HAPPENINGS

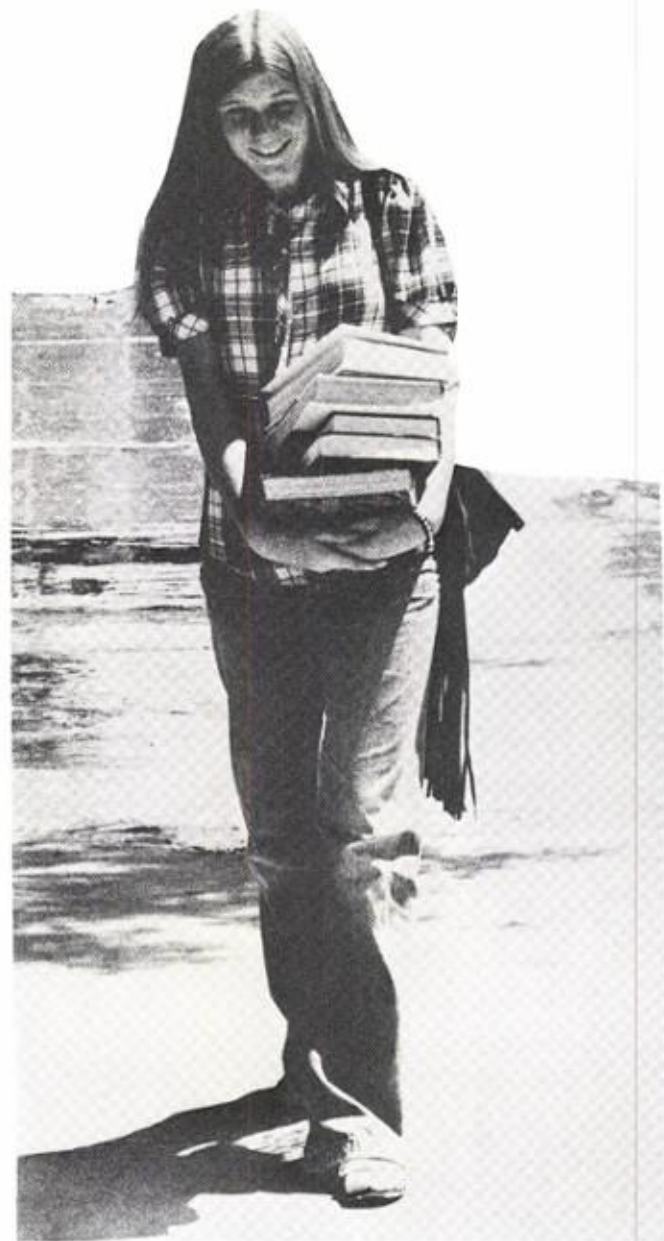

August Registration Launches School Year

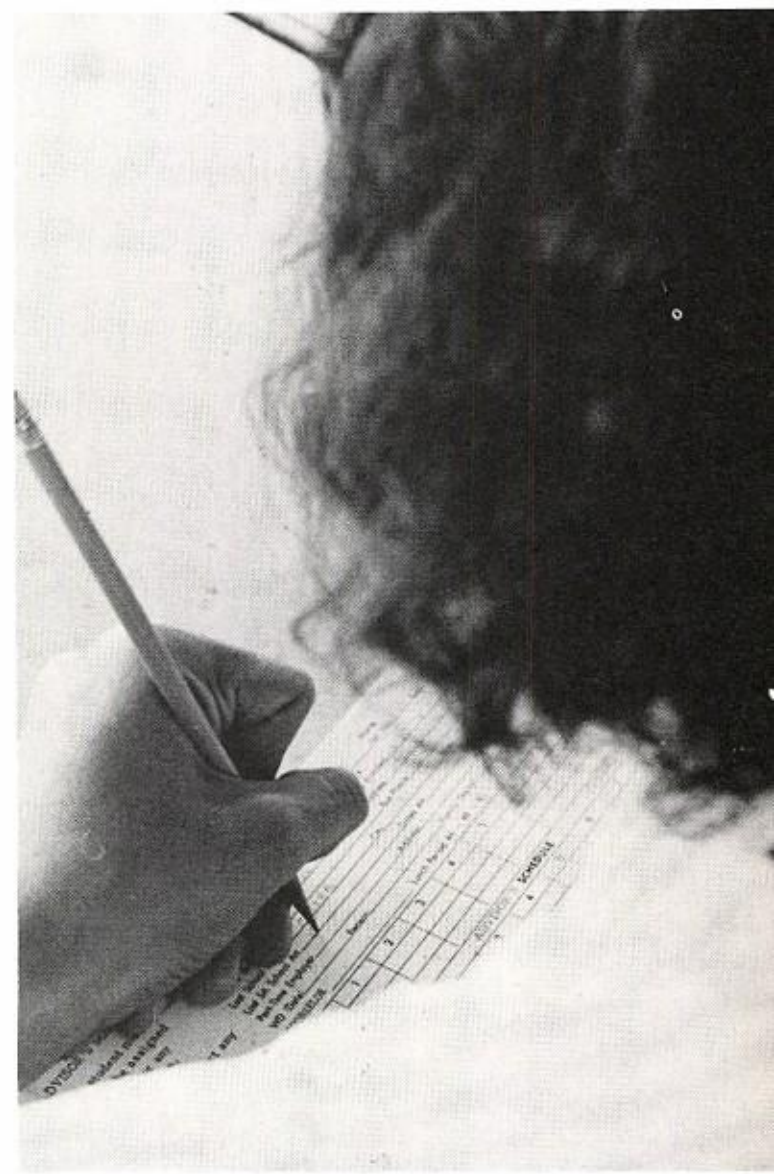

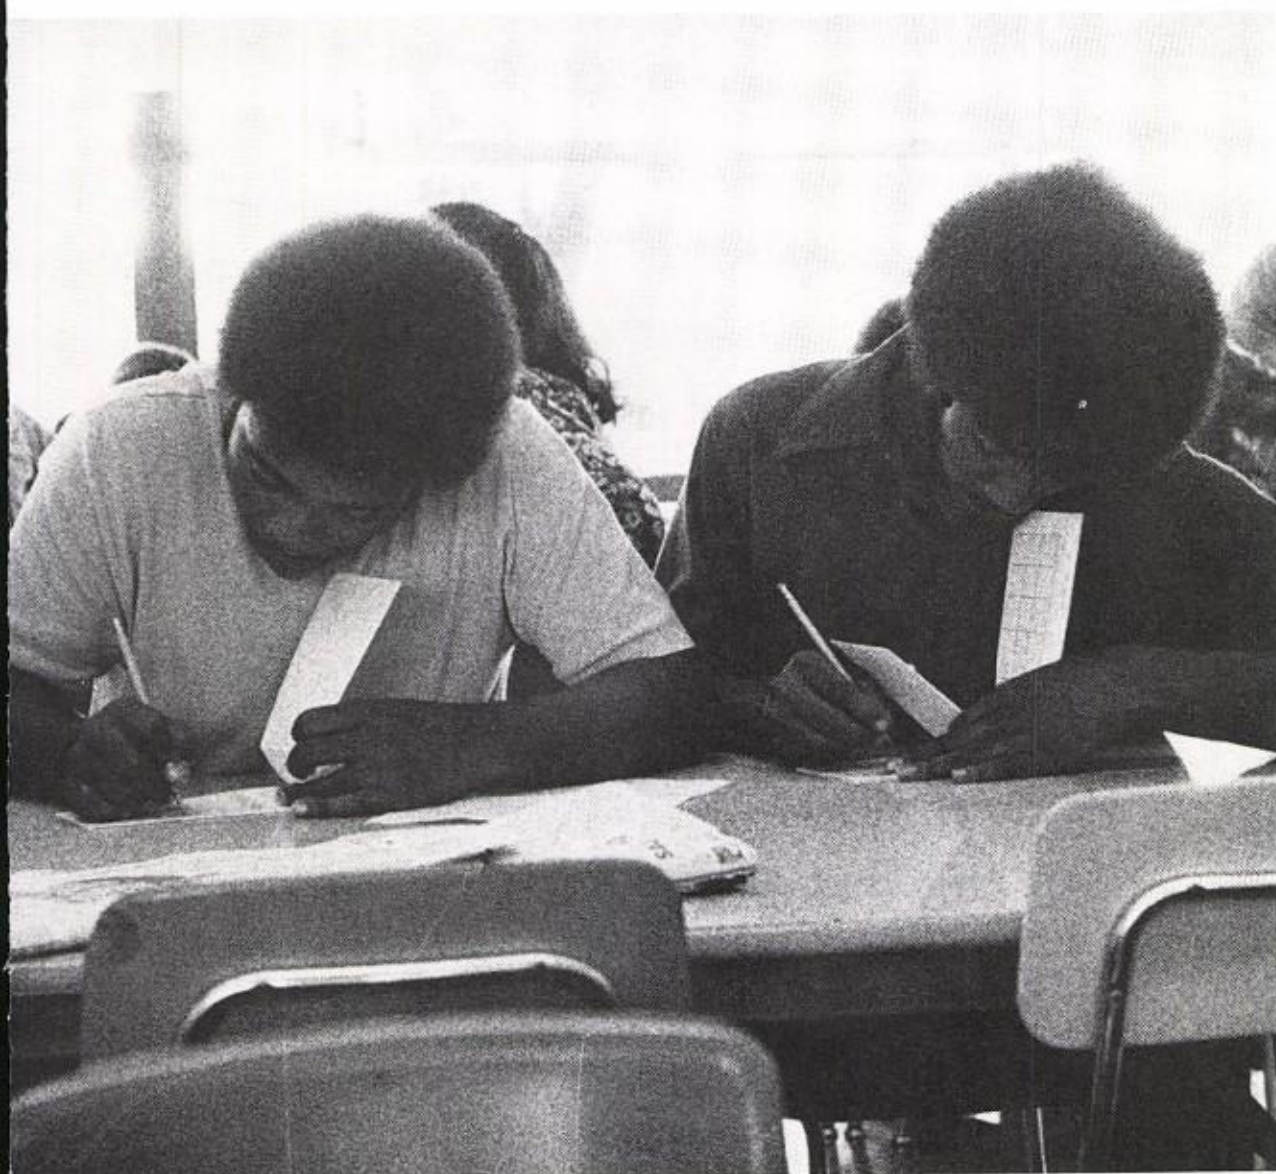

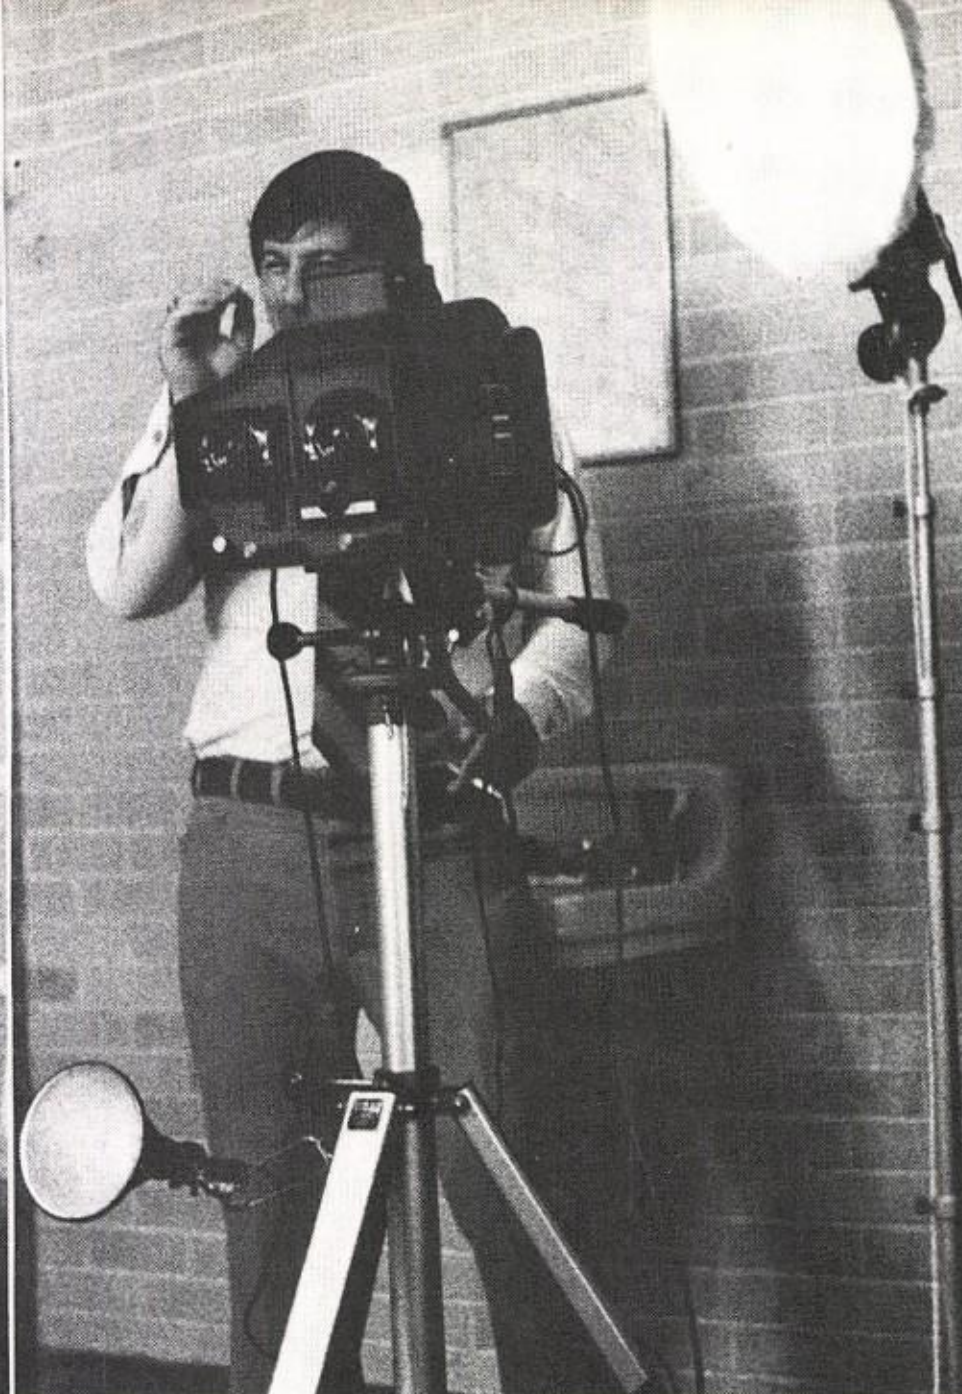

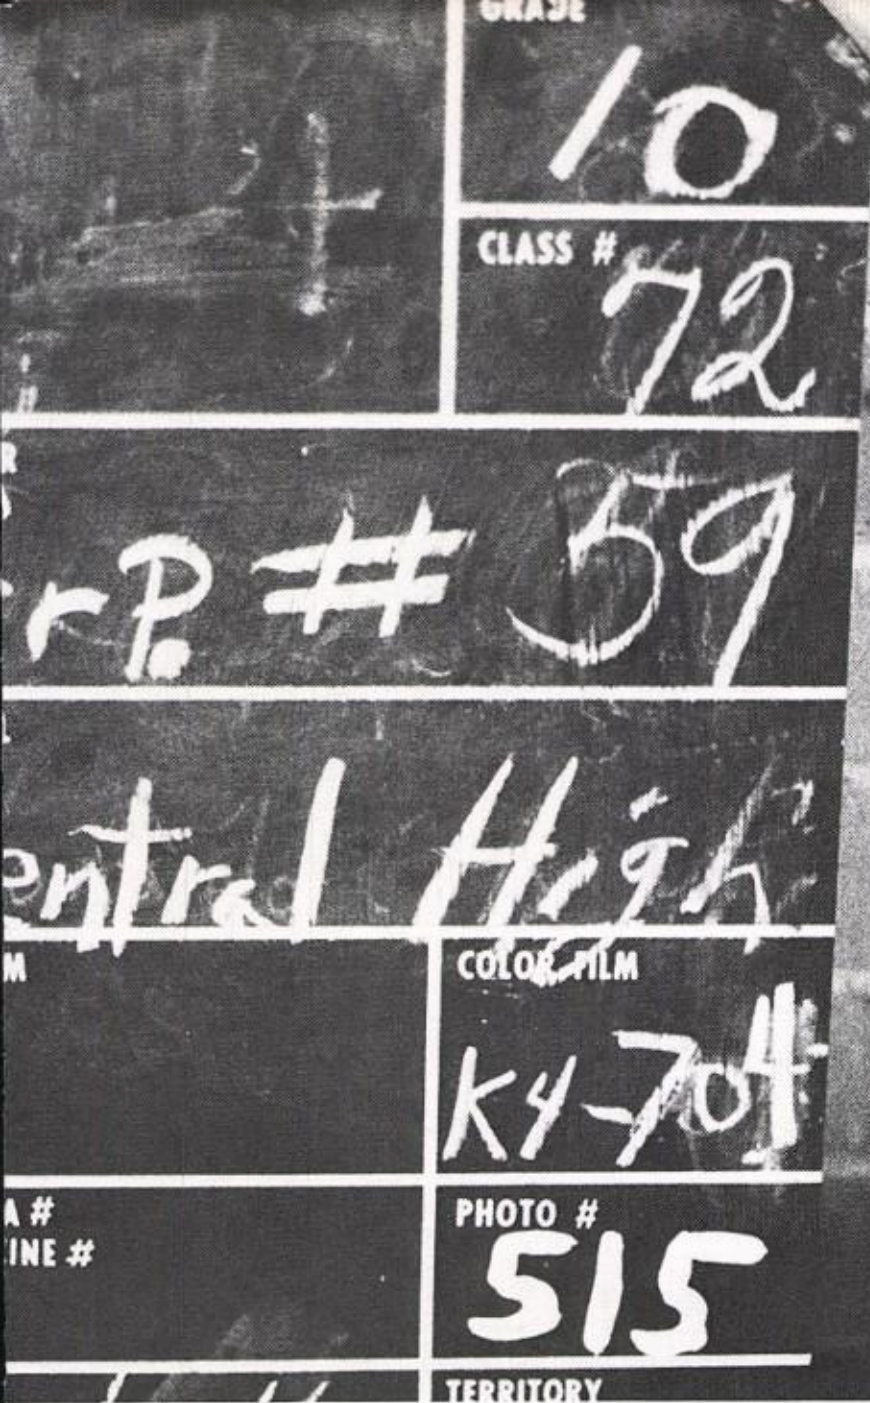

The beginning is always the same. Long lines greet the Central student as he arrives to register in late August. And in the lines, friends you have not seen all summer.

The line jerks slowly forward and suddenly, despite the greetings, the "Hi yas!", reminiscences, and comparing of notes you reach the door that symbolizes the official entry into the new school year.

Then comes the interminable round of filling out booklets, forms, more forms, conferring with counselors, having pictures made . . . and you're through the door of the cafeteria and off to the Student Service Center, where you are issued a stack of books at least six feet tall.

Finally, you're free to go home and enjoy the long Labor Day weekend—last of the summer. You wake up Tuesday morning and it hits you right between the eyes—summer's really over and another school year has begun!

Beginning of Sports Action, Organization of Clubs Are All a Part of September

After the confusion of August, September came and students began to settle down. September brought the organization of clubs; officers were elected and installed. The Bobcat football team stepped up practice in anticipation of the first game. Excitement grew, and on September 7 the Orange soundly defeated Dallas Bryan Adams 41-7 in the season opener. It was the first of many wins for the team.

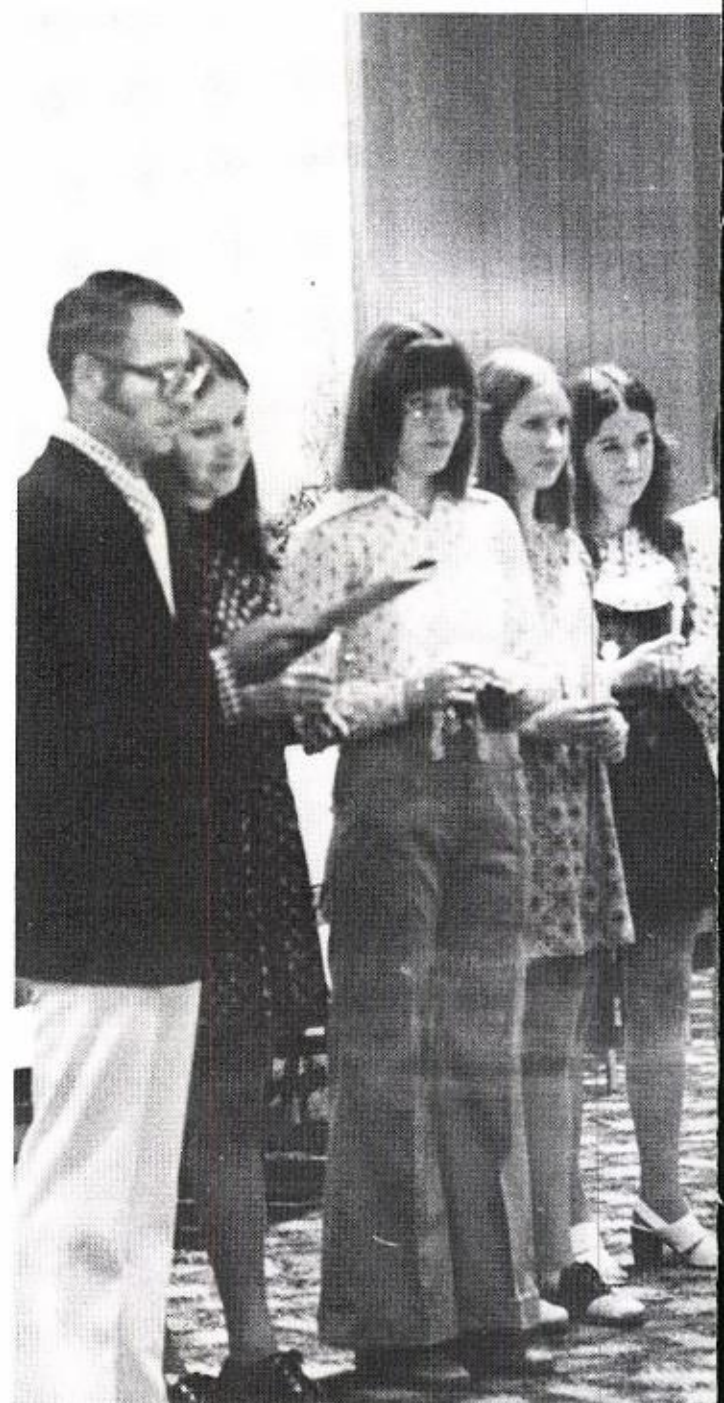

Class officer candidates began their campaigning. They climaxed the hectic week of sign-painting and tag-making by presenting skits.

Seniors ordered their graduation supplies, and the end of 12 years of fun and work began to draw nearer.

Juniors, too, were faced with decisions, one being to make a choice of the many styles of senior rings available.

Before long students were attending the inevitable workshops and seminars in various and sundry fields while the drama department prepared its first production.

With September the routine and excitement of another year were well under way.

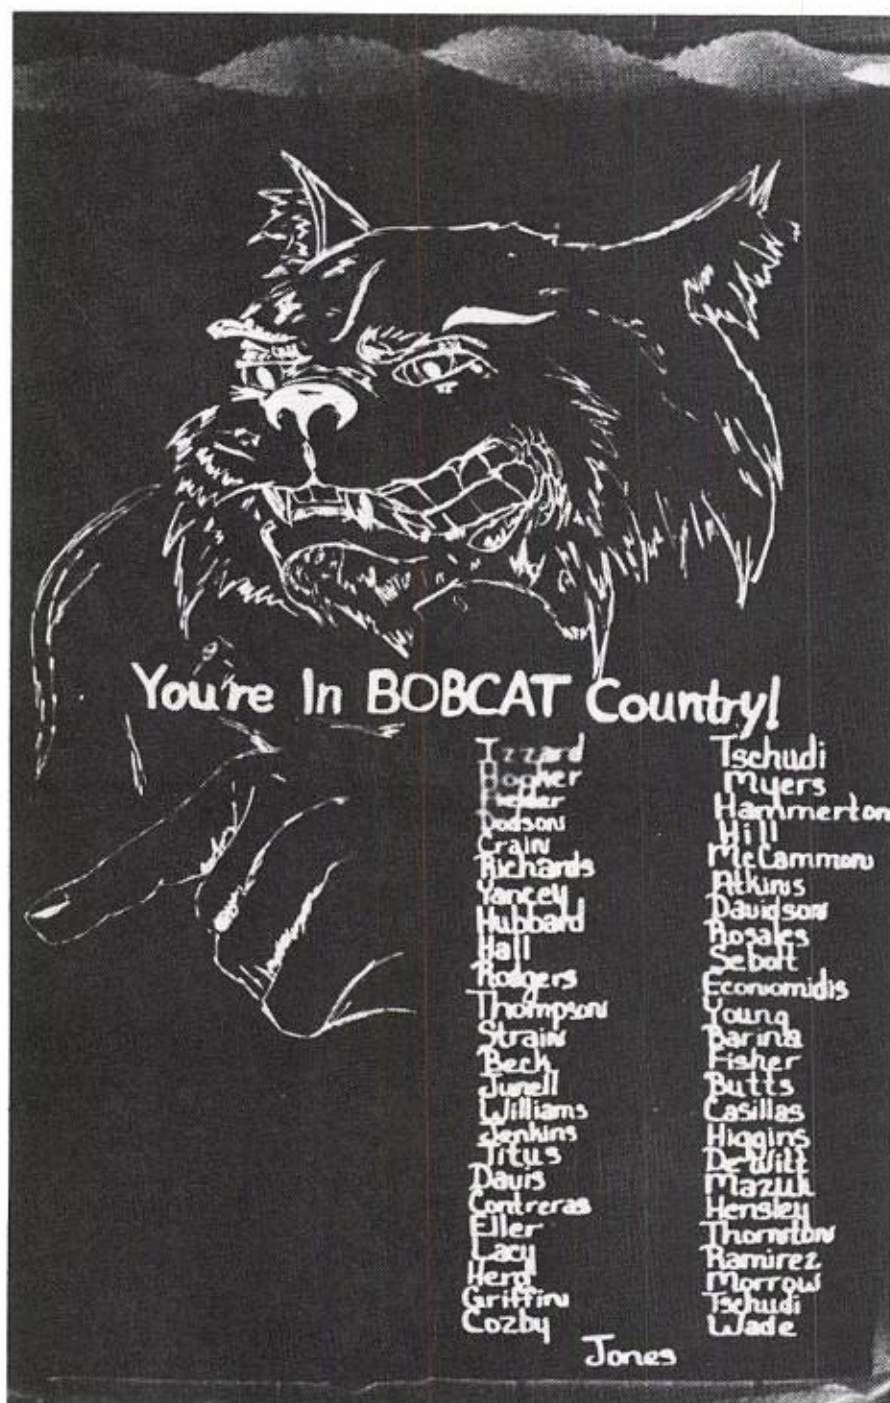

Hikes, Skits, Holiday— October Offered Much

Class officer elections . . . skits . . . clubs organizing . . . bike-a-thons and hike-bike rides, all for a good cause. October was a busy month for Centralites.

But that wasn't all. The Central drama department presented two plays, "The Lottery" and "The Bald Soprano." Ten Centralites received letters of commendation on their PSAT/NMSQT scores. And auditions for the musical "Oklahoma!" began October 16.

These, coupled with such events as Bobcat football games, nine-week tests, and a holiday while teachers attended the District convention in Brownwood made October "the month that was."

Queen Kelli Reigns Over Homecoming 1973

Friday, October 26 was a day of excitement and frantic activity as Centralites made last-minute preparations, adjustments, and repairs to their Homecoming Parade entries.

Finally the seven duchesses, their escorts, and drivers took their assigned places on River Drive and at 3 p.m. sharp Homecoming 1973 became official as the signal to start was given. The long line of floats, cars, and other vehicles interspersed with bands and drill teams began the long trek through downtown San Angelo which would end at the Santa Fe Golf Course.

The parade over and the winning floats chosen (DECA Chapter won first place, followed by Vocational Office Education) students began making preparations for the annual Homecoming game that would pit the Bobcats against the Midland High Bulldogs.

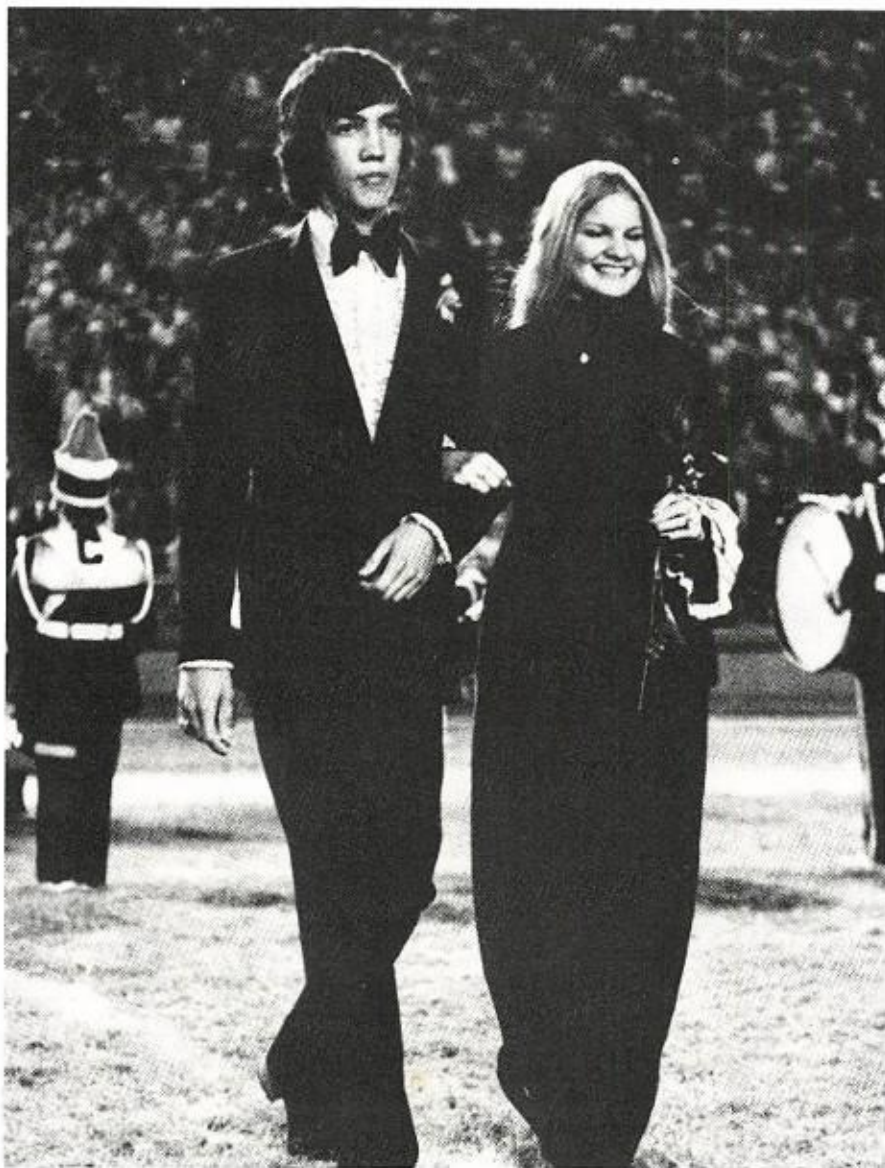

The Orange overcame a first-quarter 7-0 deficit to overpower the Tall City contingent, 33-7, with the passing arm of Quarterback David Dodson being the most potent San Angelo weapon.

At halftime, Homecoming duchesses were presented and Kelli Cantu was crowned Homecoming Queen. Kelli became the first Homecoming Queen in San Angelo history to make the traditional ride around the stadium in a golf cart, as a school board ruling prohibits heavier vehicles on the track.

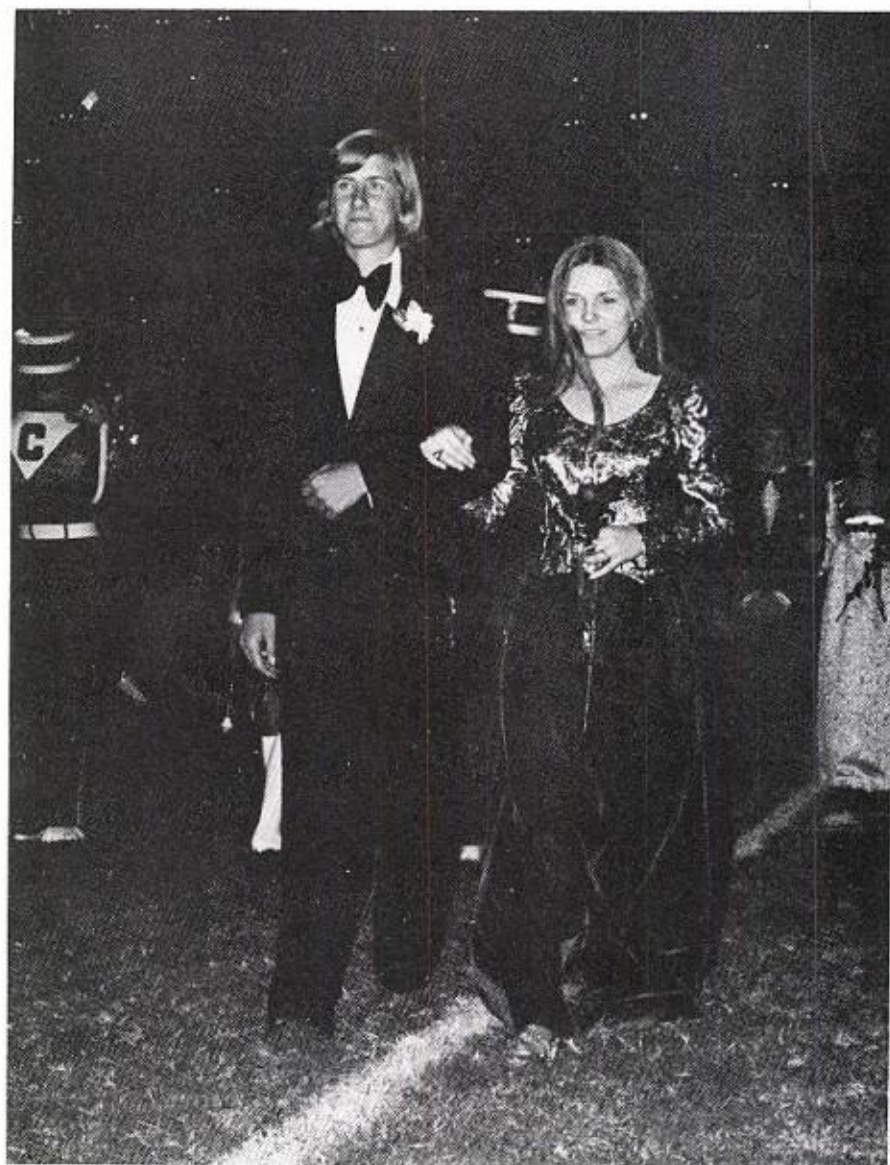

Following the football game, the annual Homecoming Dance in the gym concluded the day's activities.

November Became 'Month of Spirit'

Although marked by the end of the football season, November was the month of spirit on the Central campus.

The annual bonfire sponsored by the Key Club burned hot and bright on the night before the Bobcat-Abilene High game.

Orange and Blue were seen everywhere during "Beat Permian" Week when the student council sponsored a homeroom decorating contest. Cars had bumper stickers, walls had posters, shirts had slogans, each proclaiming "Beat Mojo!" When the big night came, numerous Centralites joined other San Angeloans in traveling to Odessa to see the Bobcats shatter the Mojo jinx once and for all, but returned home with the renewed annual resolve to "wait until next year" as the Orange finished on the short end of a 42-7 score.

But the school rallied behind the Bobcats for the final game of the season against Big Spring and spirit flared high, with the Tex-Anns presenting the annual senior drill at the Friday morning pep rally. The Cats responded by crushing the Steers 64-43 in a tilt as wild as it was exciting, and finished in a tie with Permian for the district championship.

Projects Adopted During December

With December comes the Christmas season which in turn brings thoughts of helping others. Centralites responded both individually and collectively as many campus organizations adopted projects.

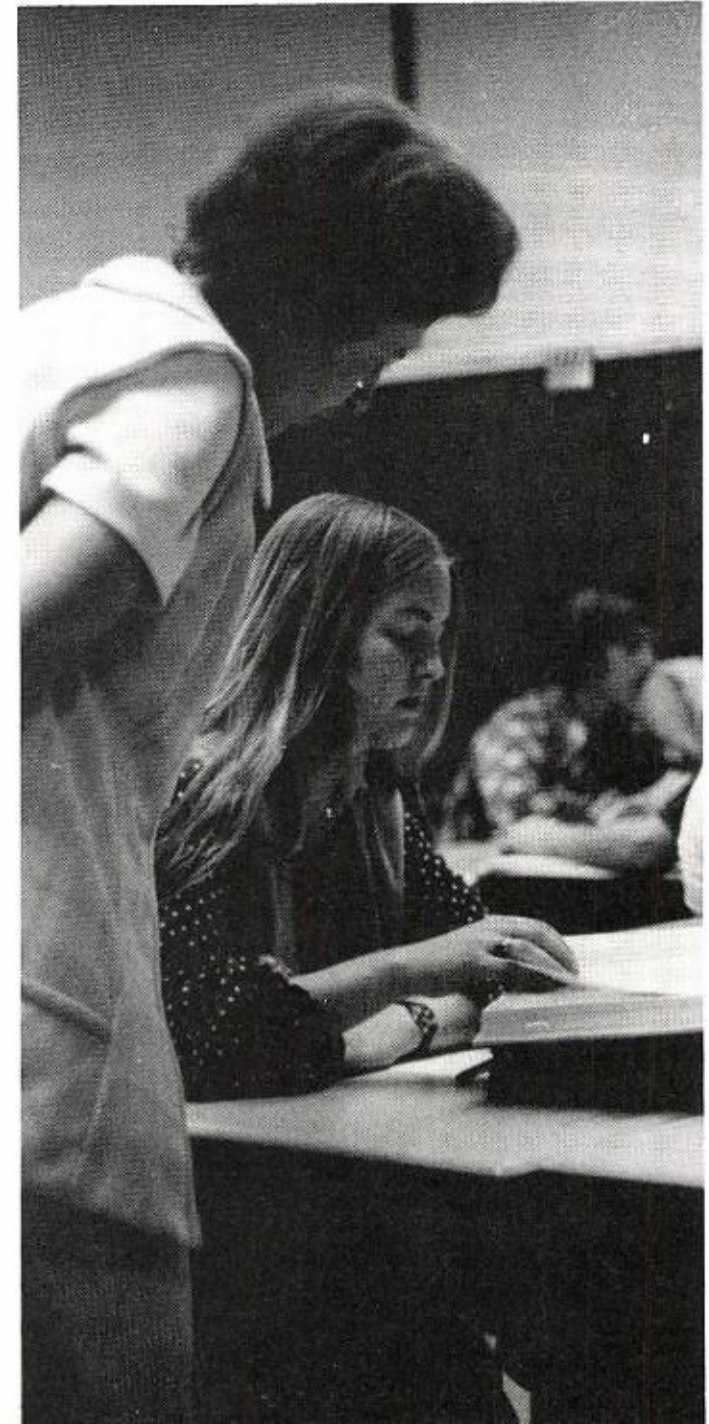

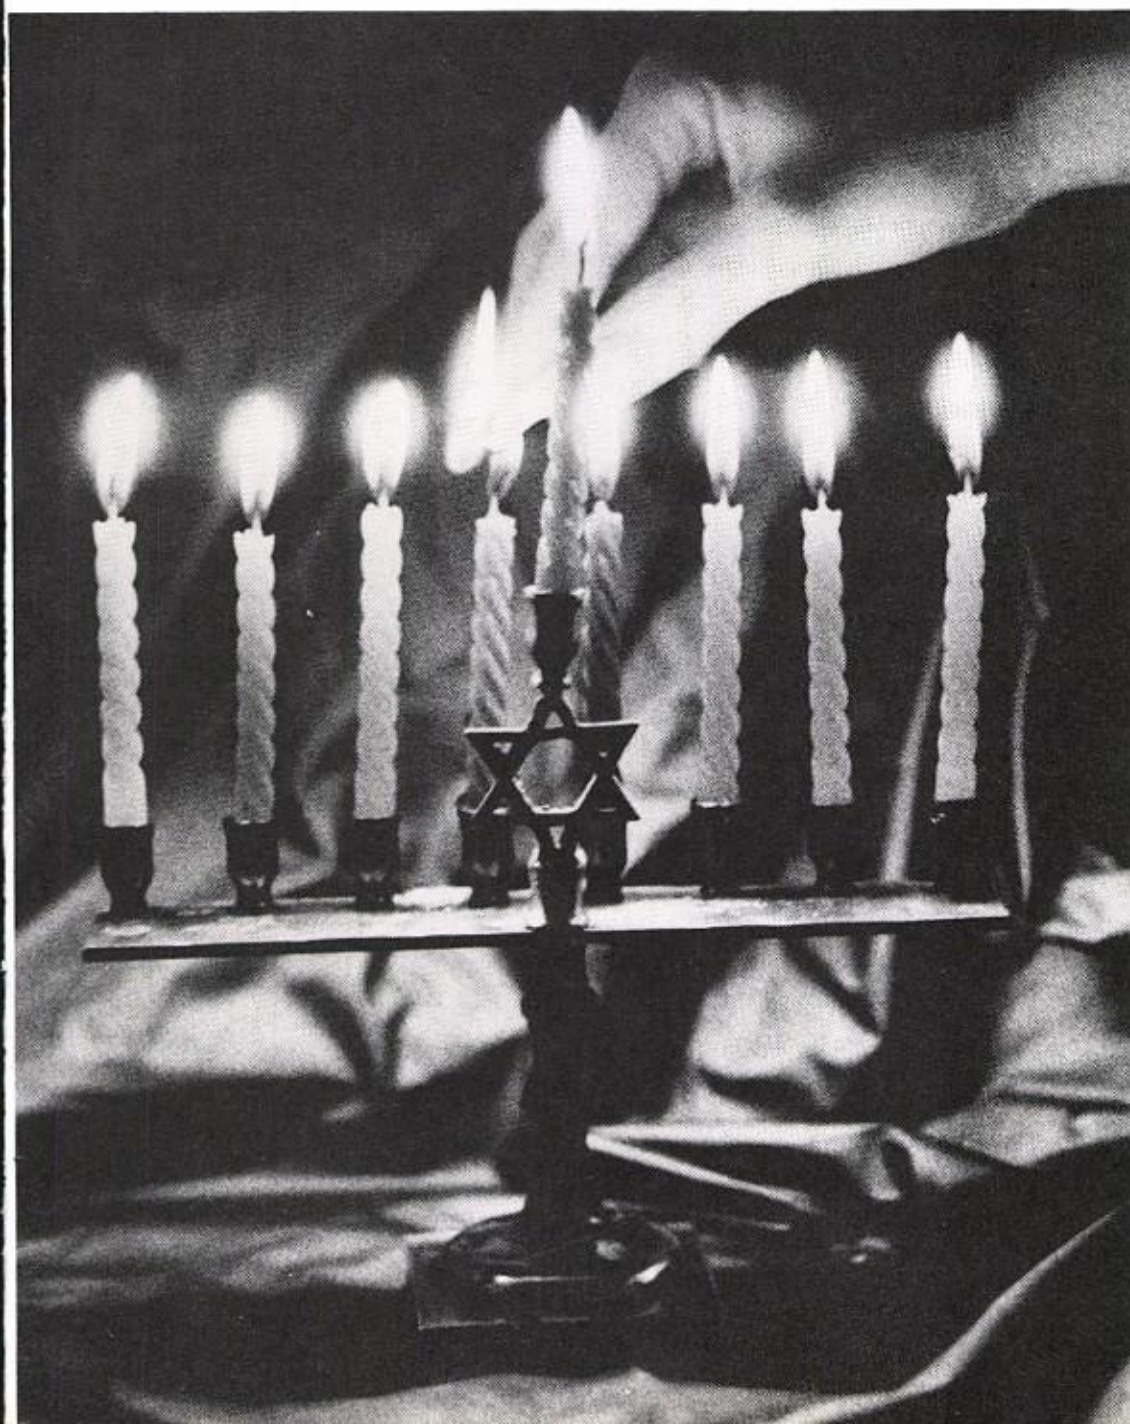

The student council's "Project Santa" assured the children of 30 San Angelo families that the jolly old elf had not forgotten them. The council collected and repaired toys that were distributed on December 21.

The Key Club collected and distributed non-perishable food items, while members of the Future Homemakers of America Chapter made gifts for the San Angelo Day Care Center.

Future Teachers of America hosted a Christmas party for people at the Rio Vista Center, and Jim Glossbrenner's Speech I class went caroling at Park Plaza Nursing Home.

All Because of Christ (ABC) sponsored the annual Christmas assembly, which featured Christmas music sung by Central choirs. Nearly all classes, clubs, and other organizations had Christmas parties.

December also saw the sports scene shift from San Angelo Stadium to the gym as basketball action reached a fast tempo.

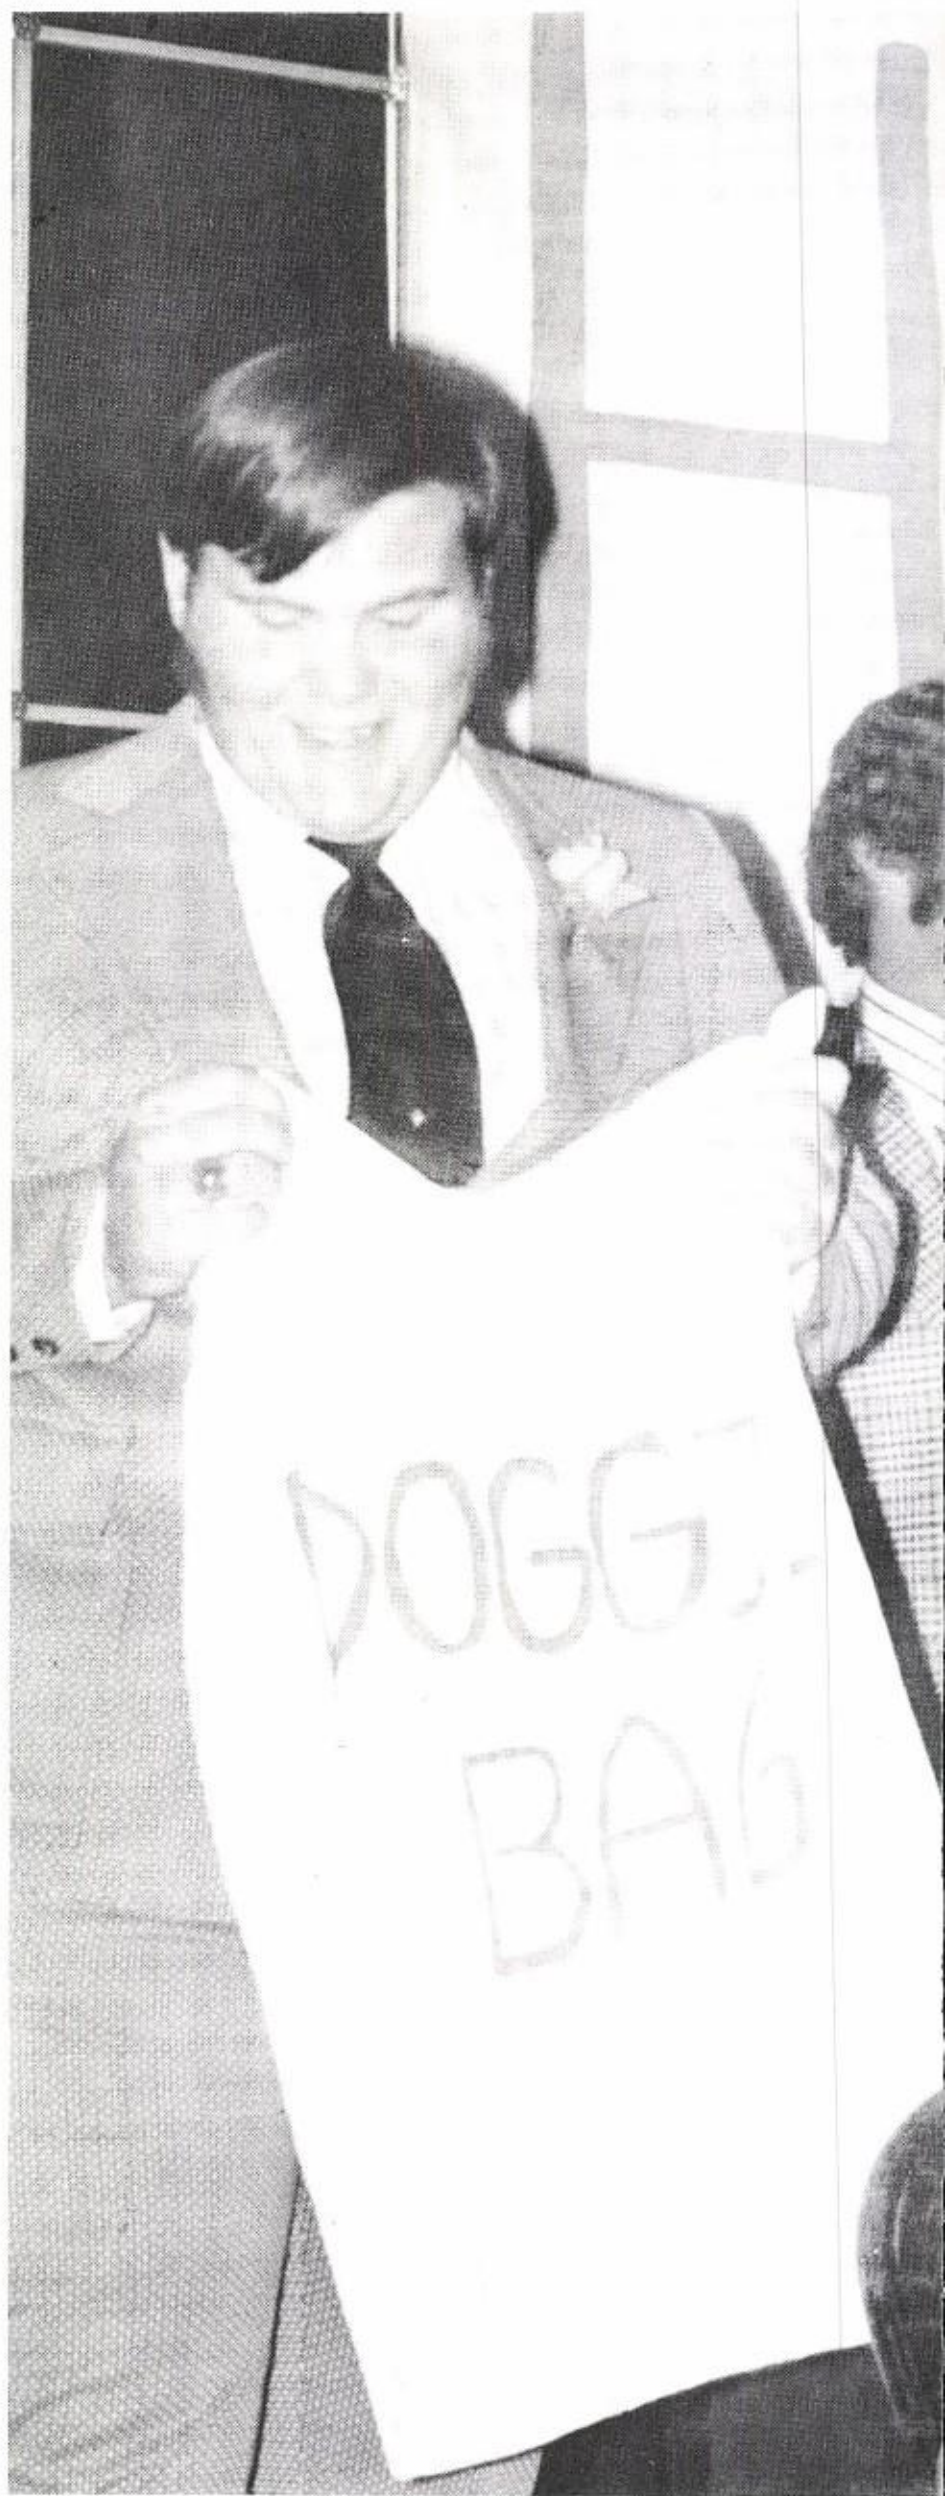

Dodson, Junell Cited At Cat Grid Banquet

Coach Jim Carlen of the Texas Tech Red Raiders was guest speaker at the annual banquet honoring members of the 1973 Bobcat football team. The banquet was held in Hotel Cactus Monday evening, January 14.

Highlighting the affair was presentation of the Nathan's Award to David Dodson and Dan Junell, selected by their teammates as most valuable players. Junell also was recipient of the Minton White Award, presented on the basis of scholastic achievement as well as contribution to the team.

The traditional "Cat's Eye View" of the season was given by Glenn Lacy, Charlie Davidson, Bill Yancey, and Randy Eller.

February Short But Busy Month

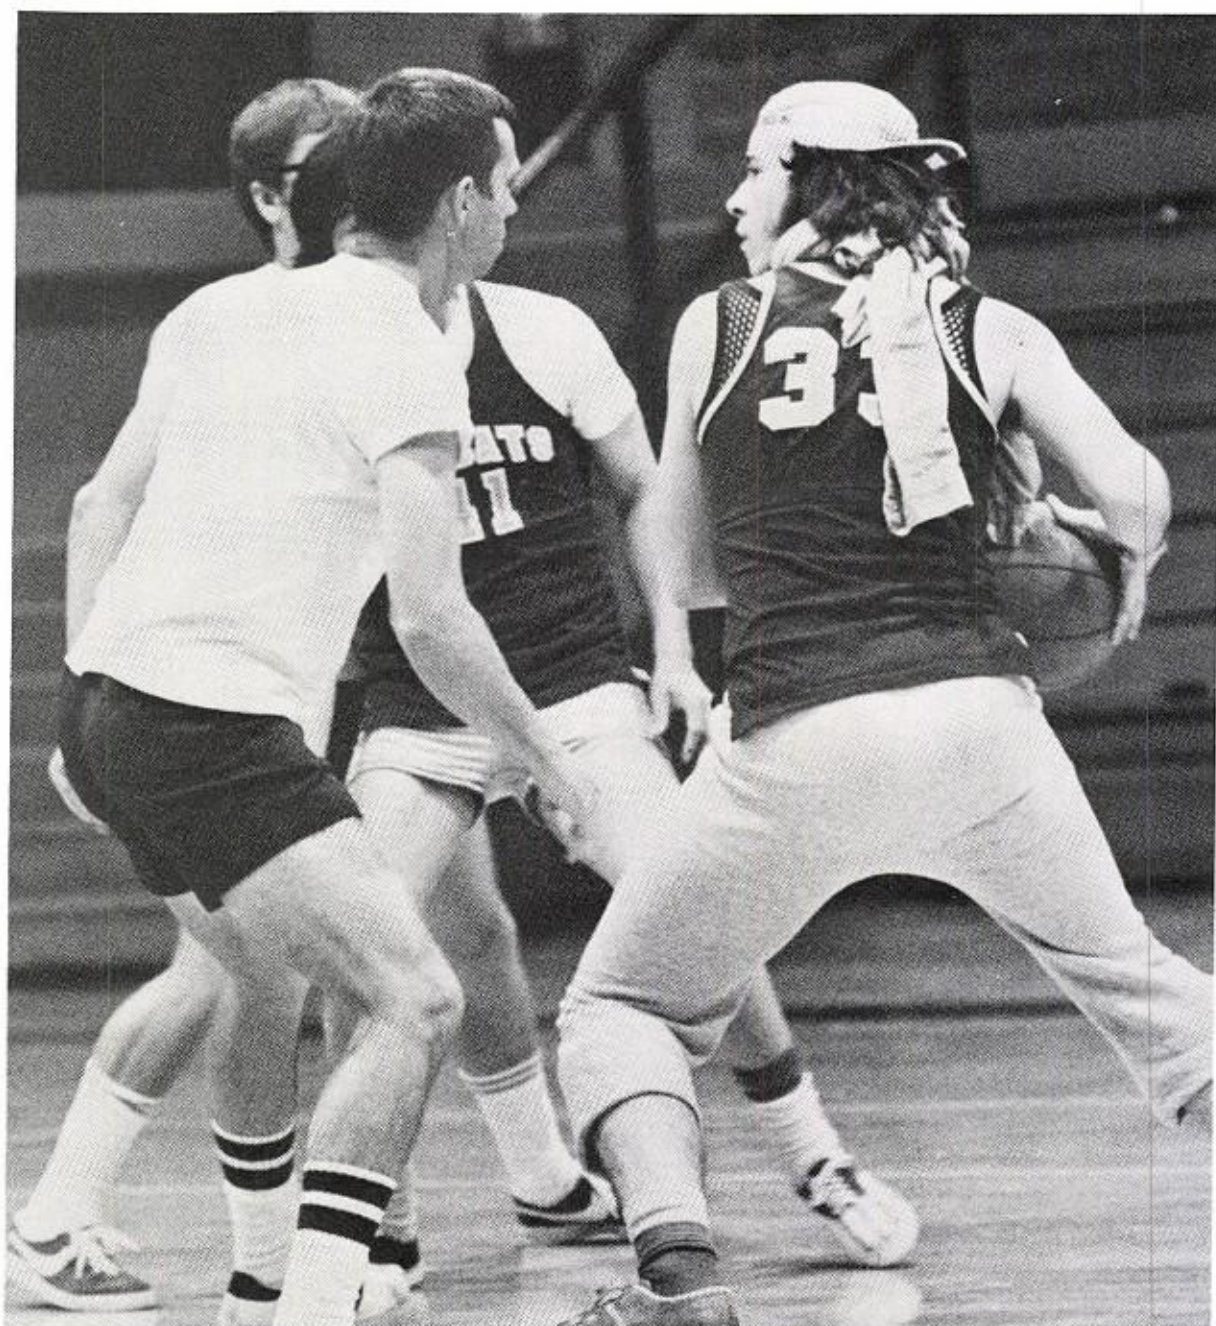

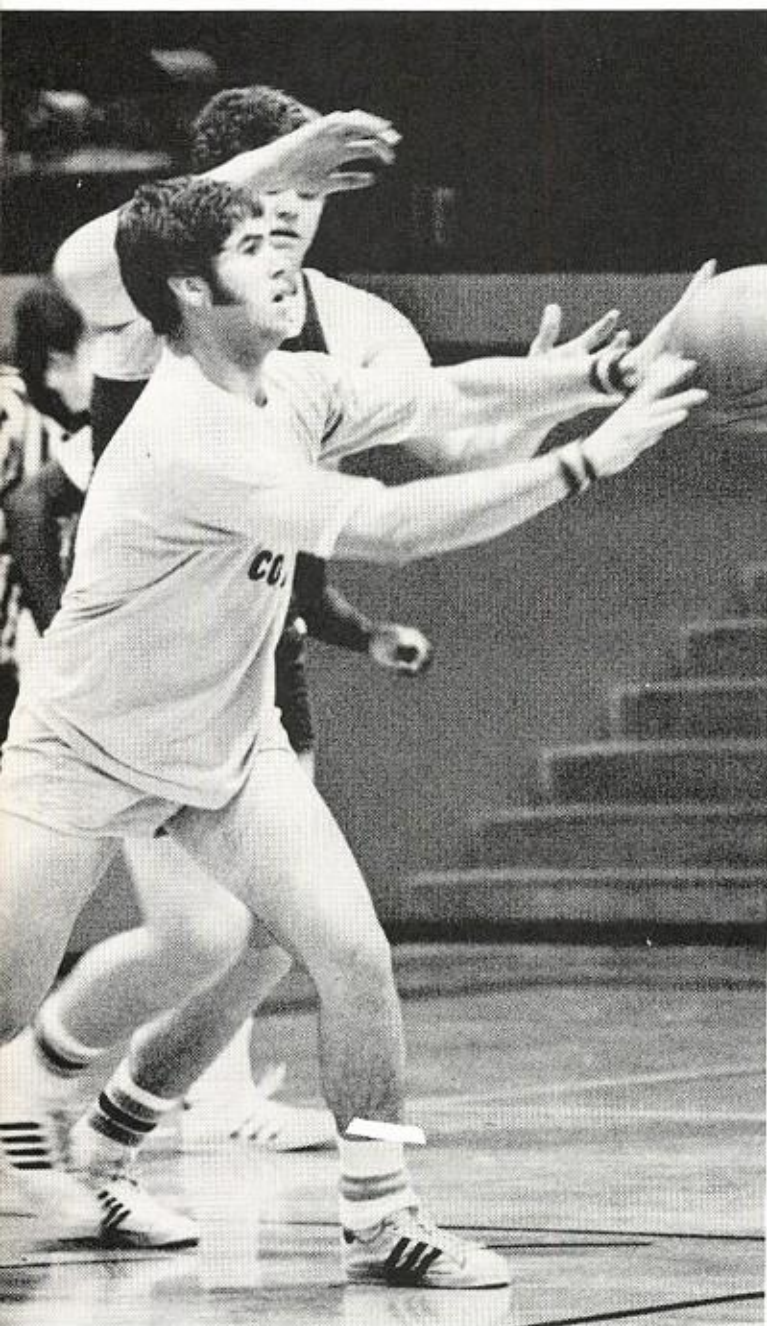

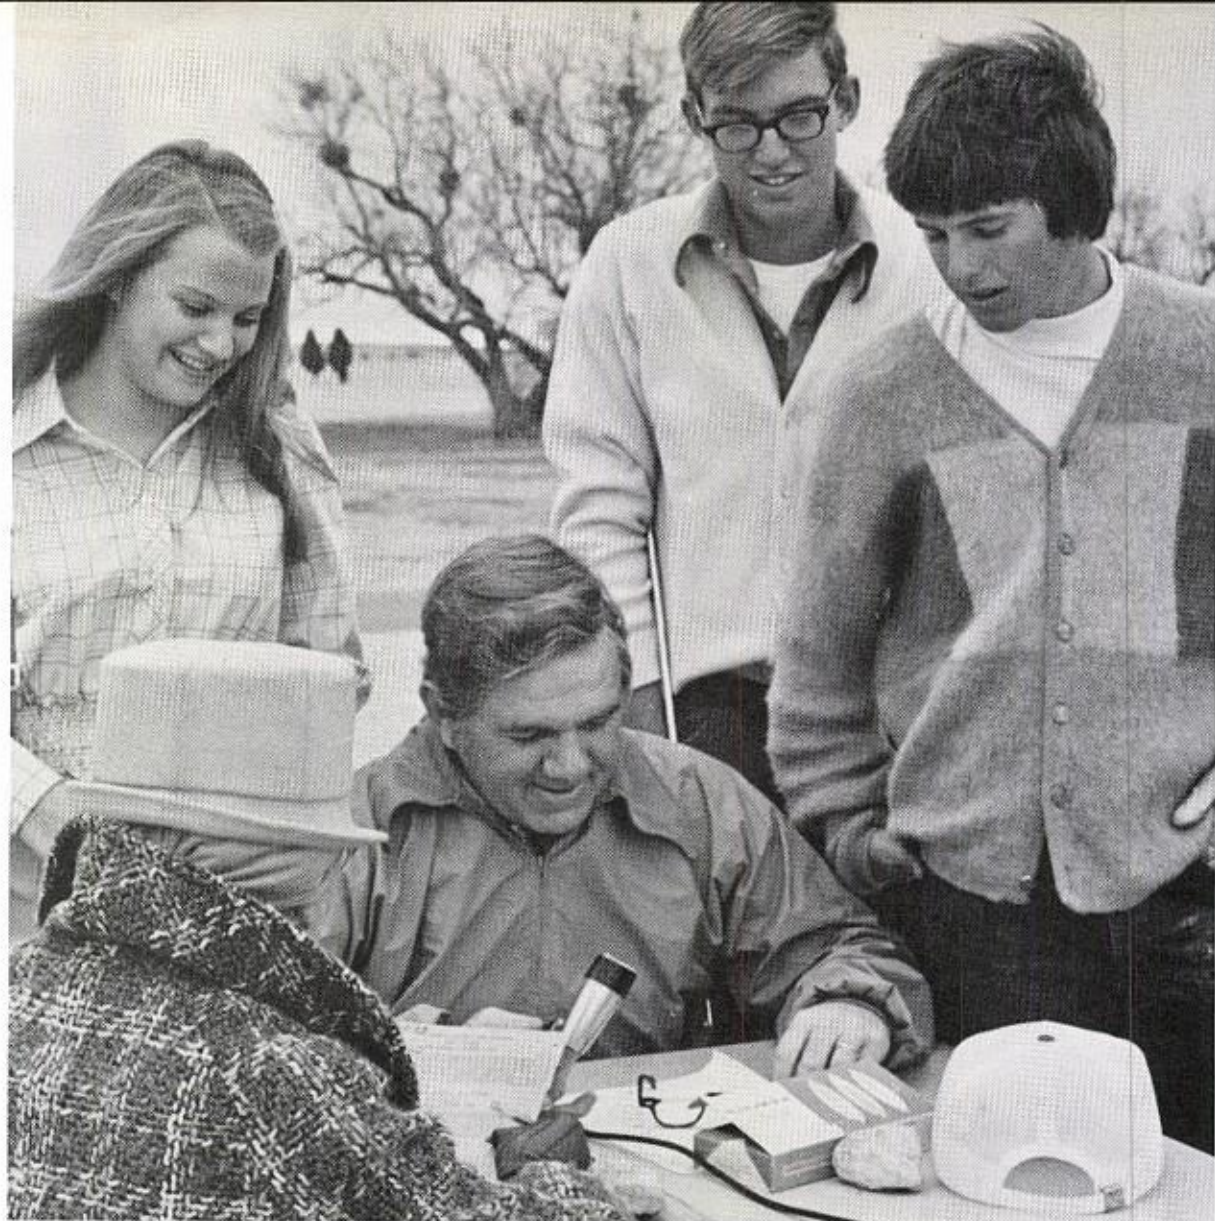

Although February is the shortest month of the year, a lot happens during it.

In sports, the Bobcat golf team had its annual invitational tournament and tracksters launched their season.

Valentine Day left many girls with stars in their eyes, but the following week found them with empty pocketbooks as TWIRP Week (The Woman Is Requested To Pay) was celebrated. Highlighting TWIRP Week was the faculty vs. student council basketball game, with the faculty seizing victory by fair means or foul. During half-time Todd Tschudi was crowned as king of the TWIRP Court.

The choral music department climaxed the month by presenting the musical, "Oklahoma!". The presentation culminated a project that began with rehearsals last fall.

Yes, February left many Centralites wondering just how much can happen in the shortest month of the year!

With Spring comes research papers and many senior activities, to be culminated by The Big Moment—graduation. But that isn't all.

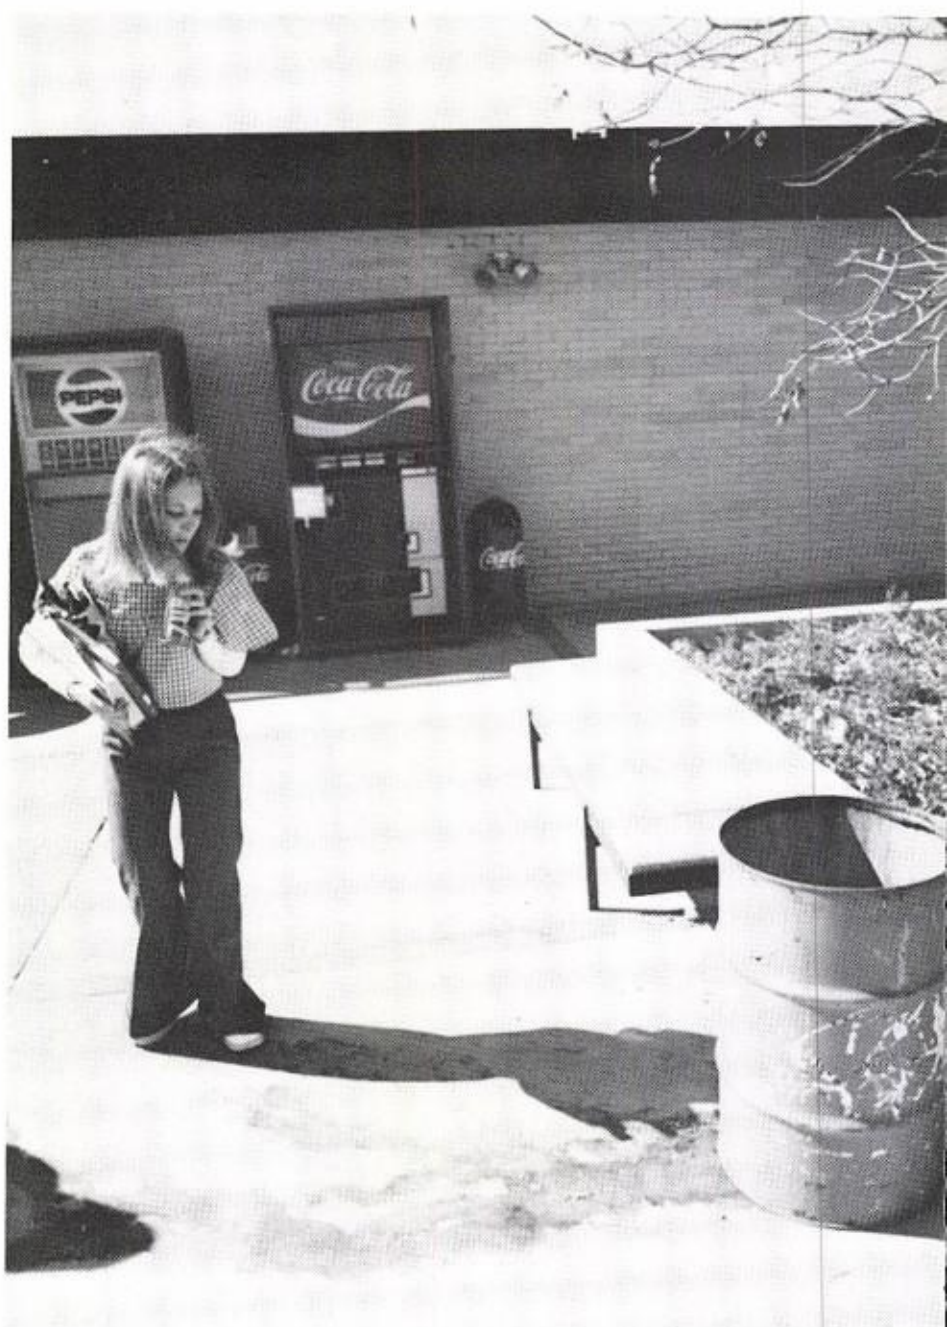

This is the time of the year when flowers are born and soft breezes complement the air. It's time to make new friends and strengthen bonds between old ones.

Spring is a time to fill your heart with goodness and accept Nature as something precious . . . something we must all preserve for future generations.

As new leaves appear on the trees, take a moment to remember all the wonderful and fulfilling things you have to live for.

Keep a smile in your heart and a glow of laughter on your lips. It is a beautiful time of the year.

—Leslie Cagle

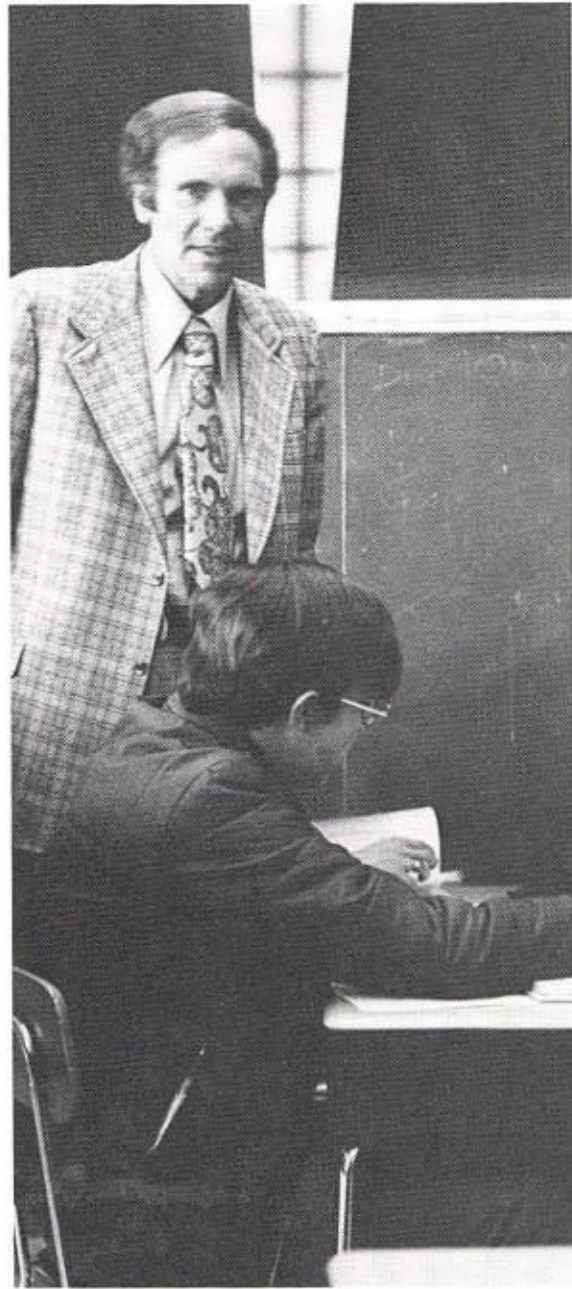

Energy Crisis Brings Changes

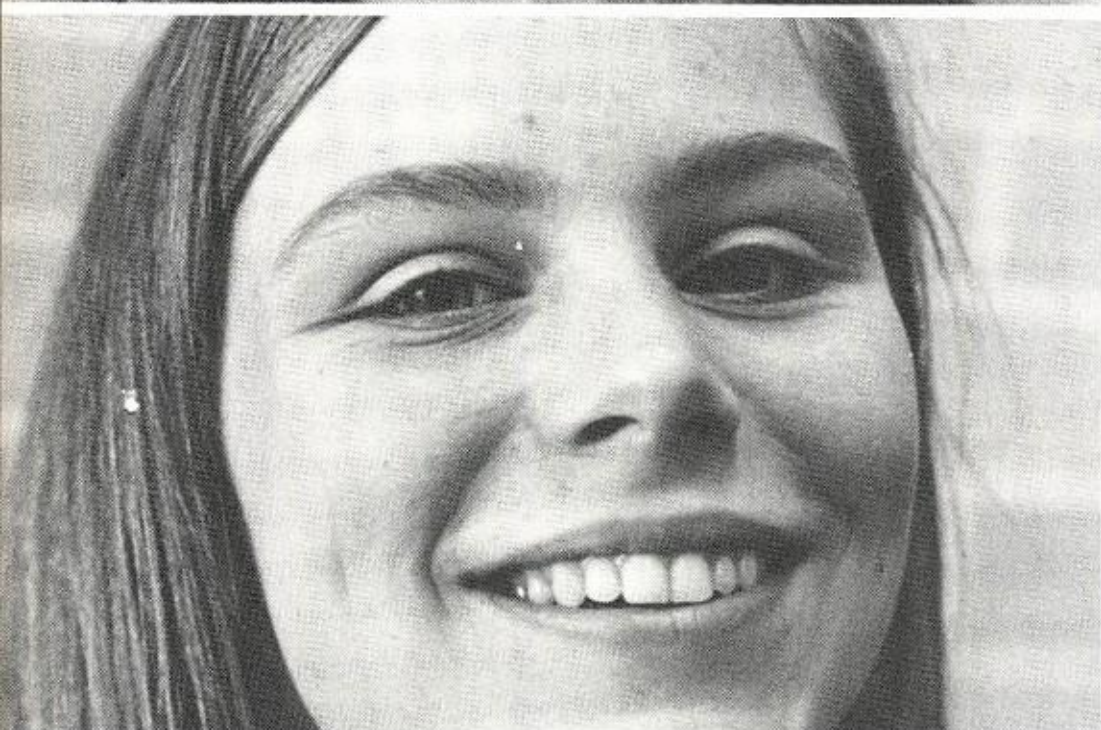

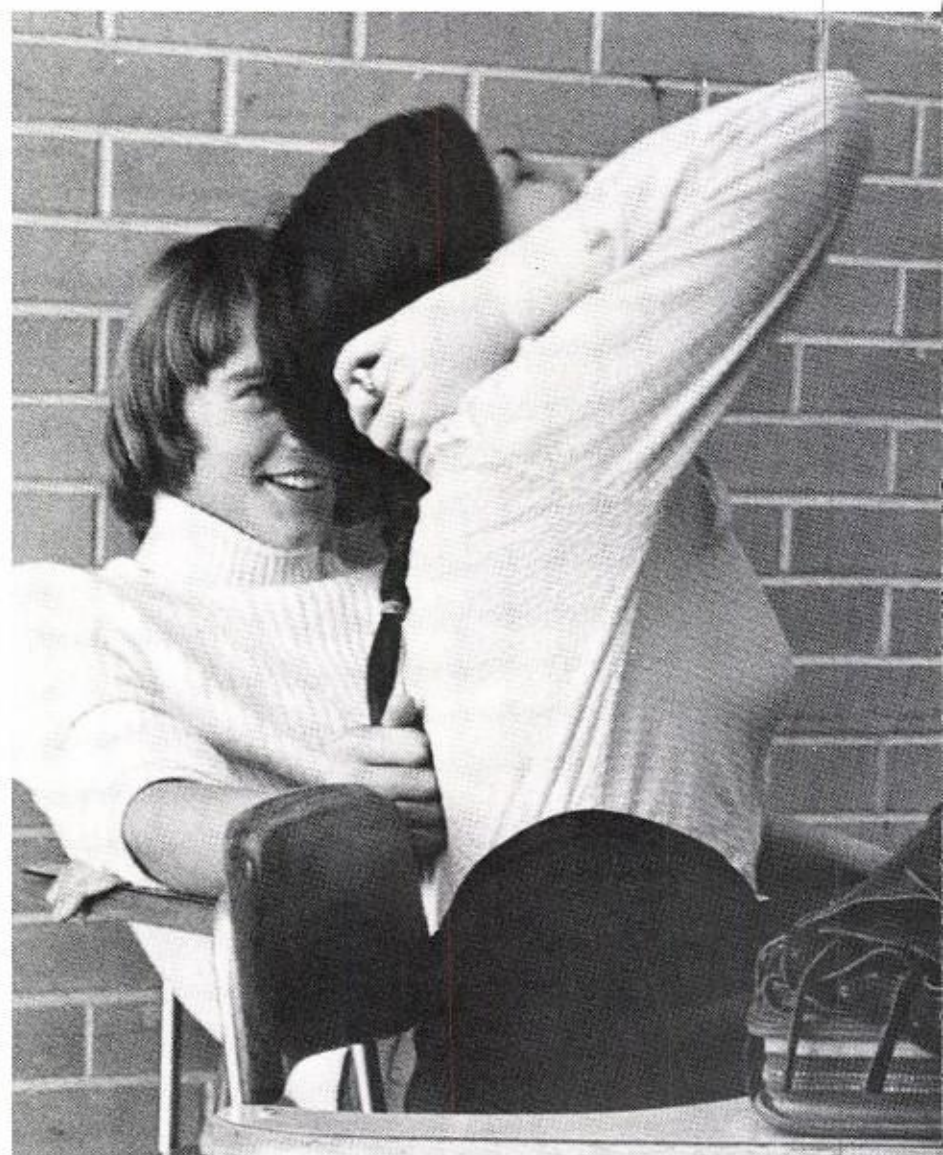

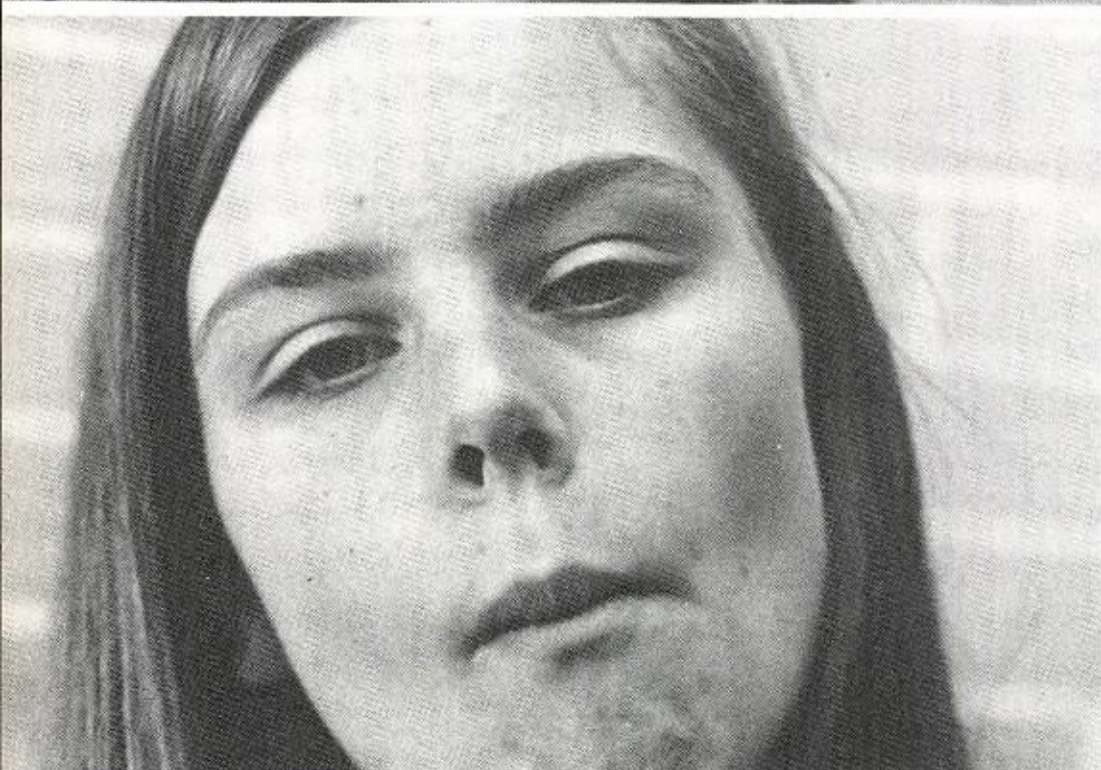

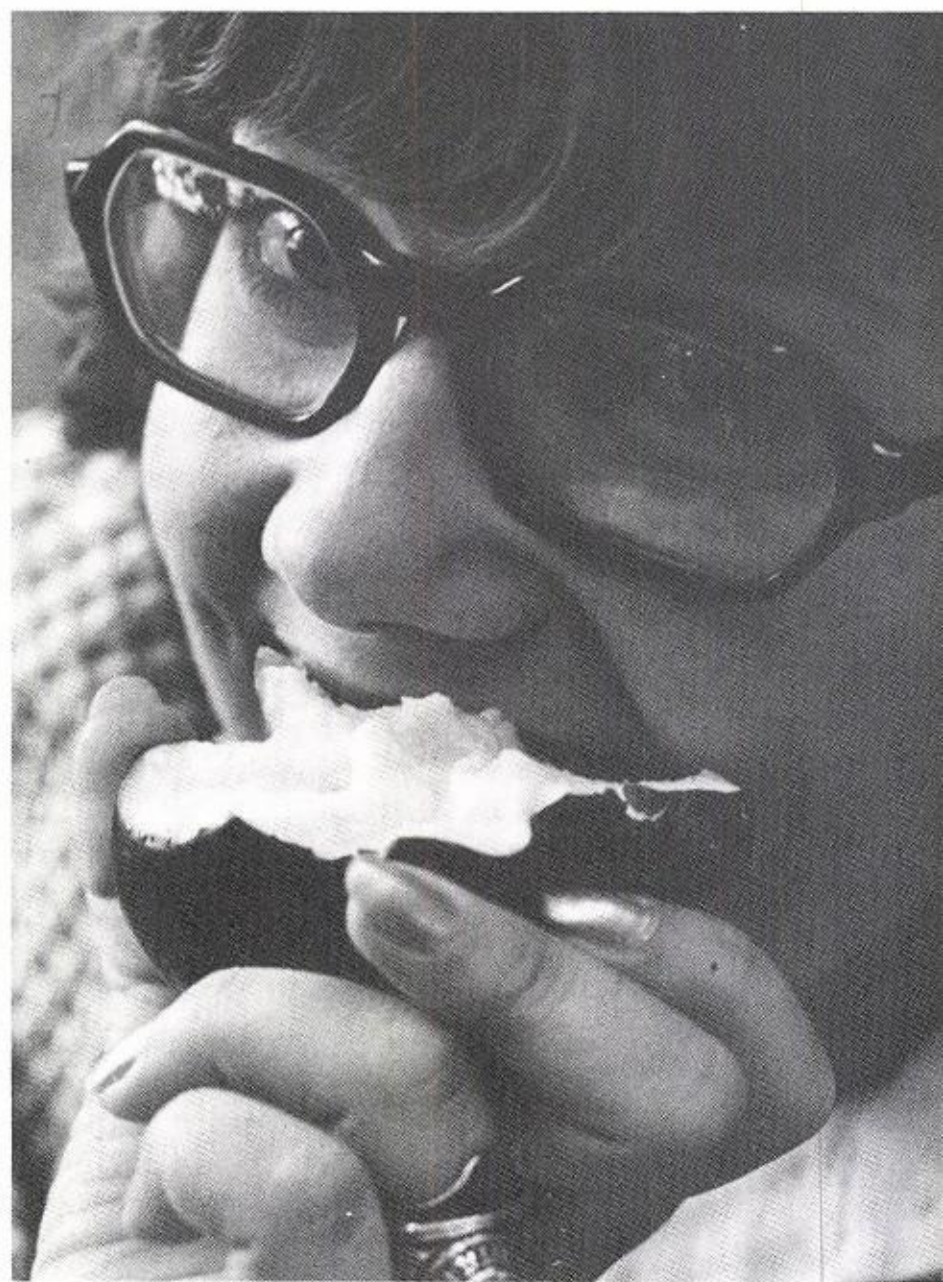

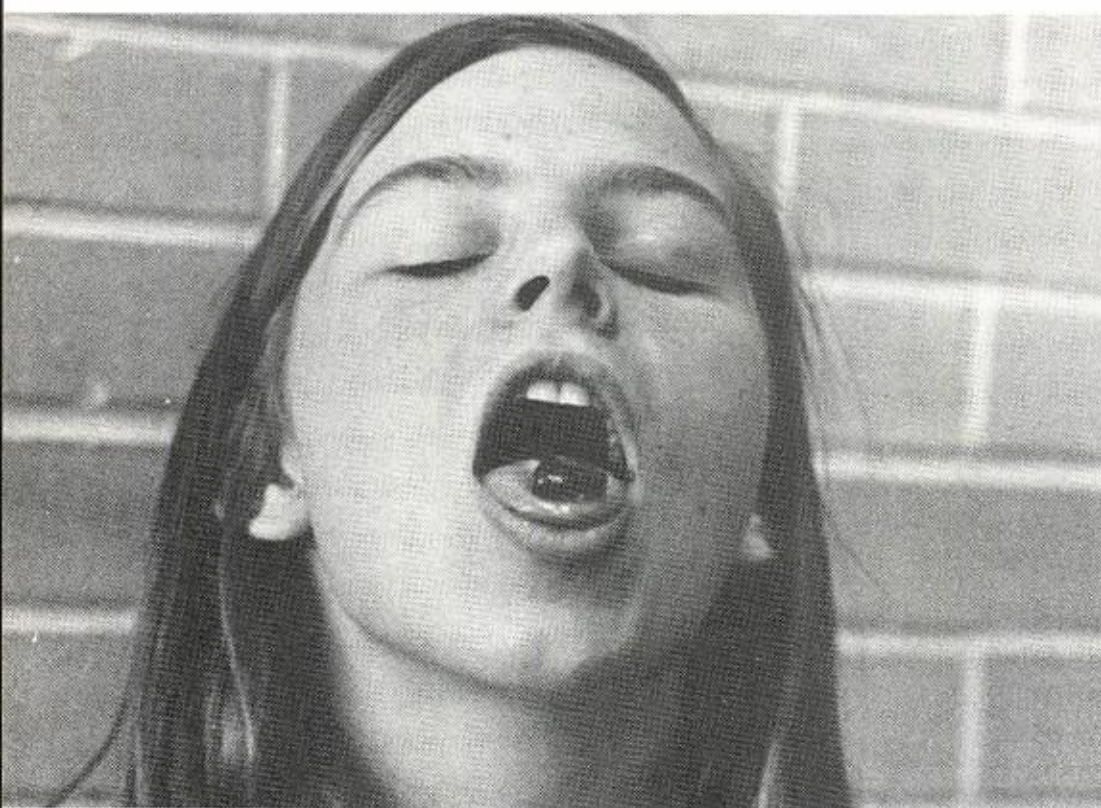

The energy crisis became more than a conversation piece in the fall of 1973. As gasoline prices inched (sometimes zoomed) ever higher and as Centralites began using precious gasoline in safaris around town in search of more gasoline, the energy crisis ceased to be a joke. It became reality.

Then, in January, Daylight Savings Time was decreed by the federal government. Although school hours were moved up only 30 minutes, students went to first-period classes in the dark until March.

But be it daylight or dark, it was classes-as-usual on the Central campus. Activities remained pretty much the same with the exception that now the reading, writing and arithmetic were done at 68 degrees.

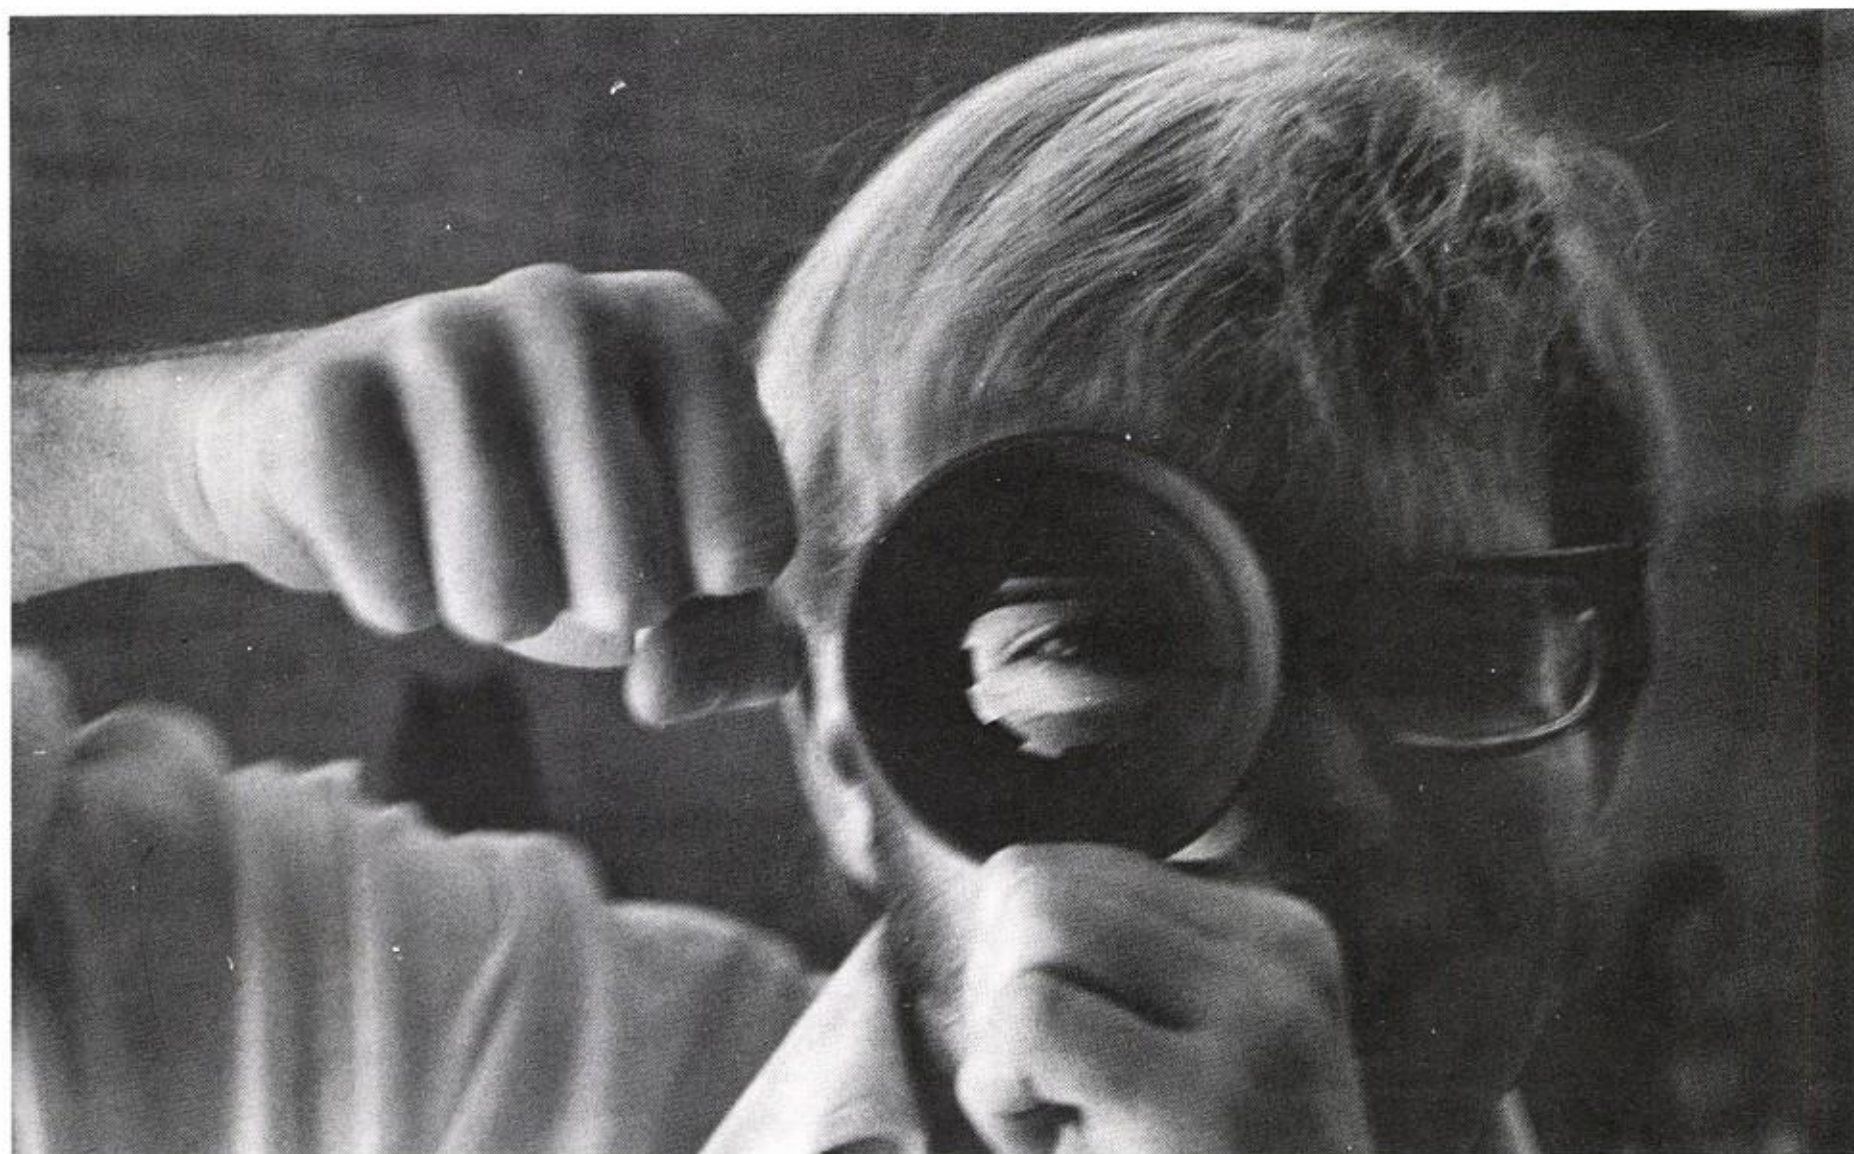

Faces, Times Become Vivid as Year Closes

As the year draws to an end, the precious moments with old and new friends become even more special. The realization that nothing will ever be the same, that the happenings at Central in '74 will be over, brings back the faces and the times even more vividly.

Even when we no longer see that certain person during lunch, in the parking lot, or in a class, the memories of 1973-74 will linger on.

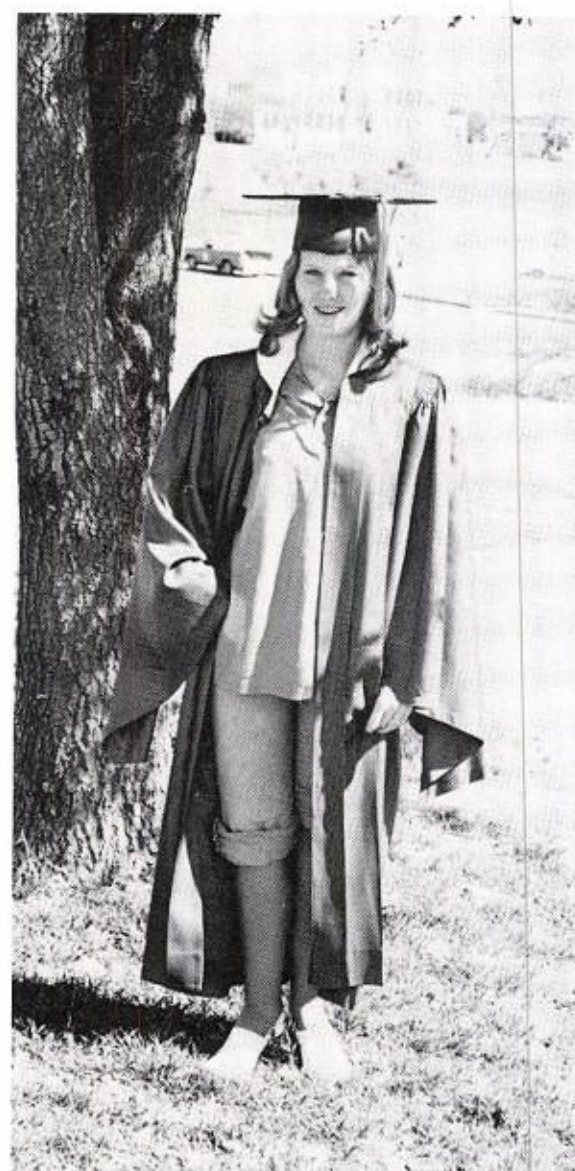

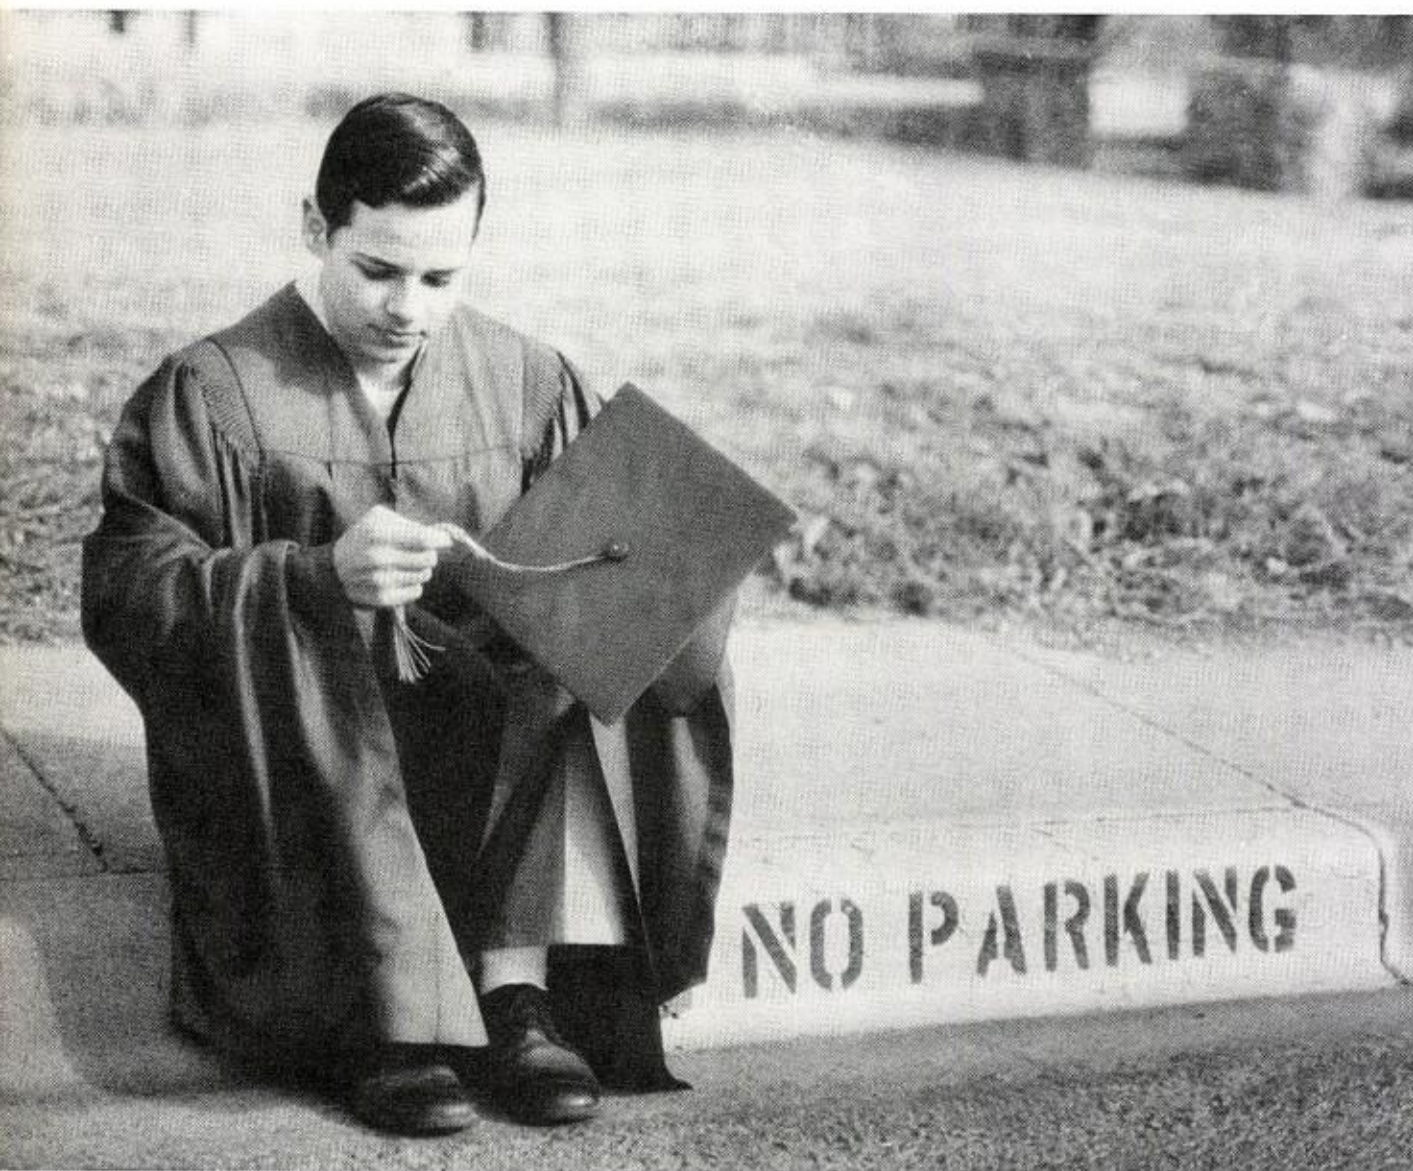

Seniors in Last Act As Centralites June 1

The final act of required education for the 1974 seniors occurs Saturday, June 1 in San Angelo Coliseum.

For some, the graduation ceremonies will be only another tradition full of "phony" pomp and circumstance, but for others the ceremonies will be a tearful occasion. It will be the last time that the seniors of '74 will be together as a class, the last time they will sing the school song together. Some of the people standing together on that night may never see each other again.

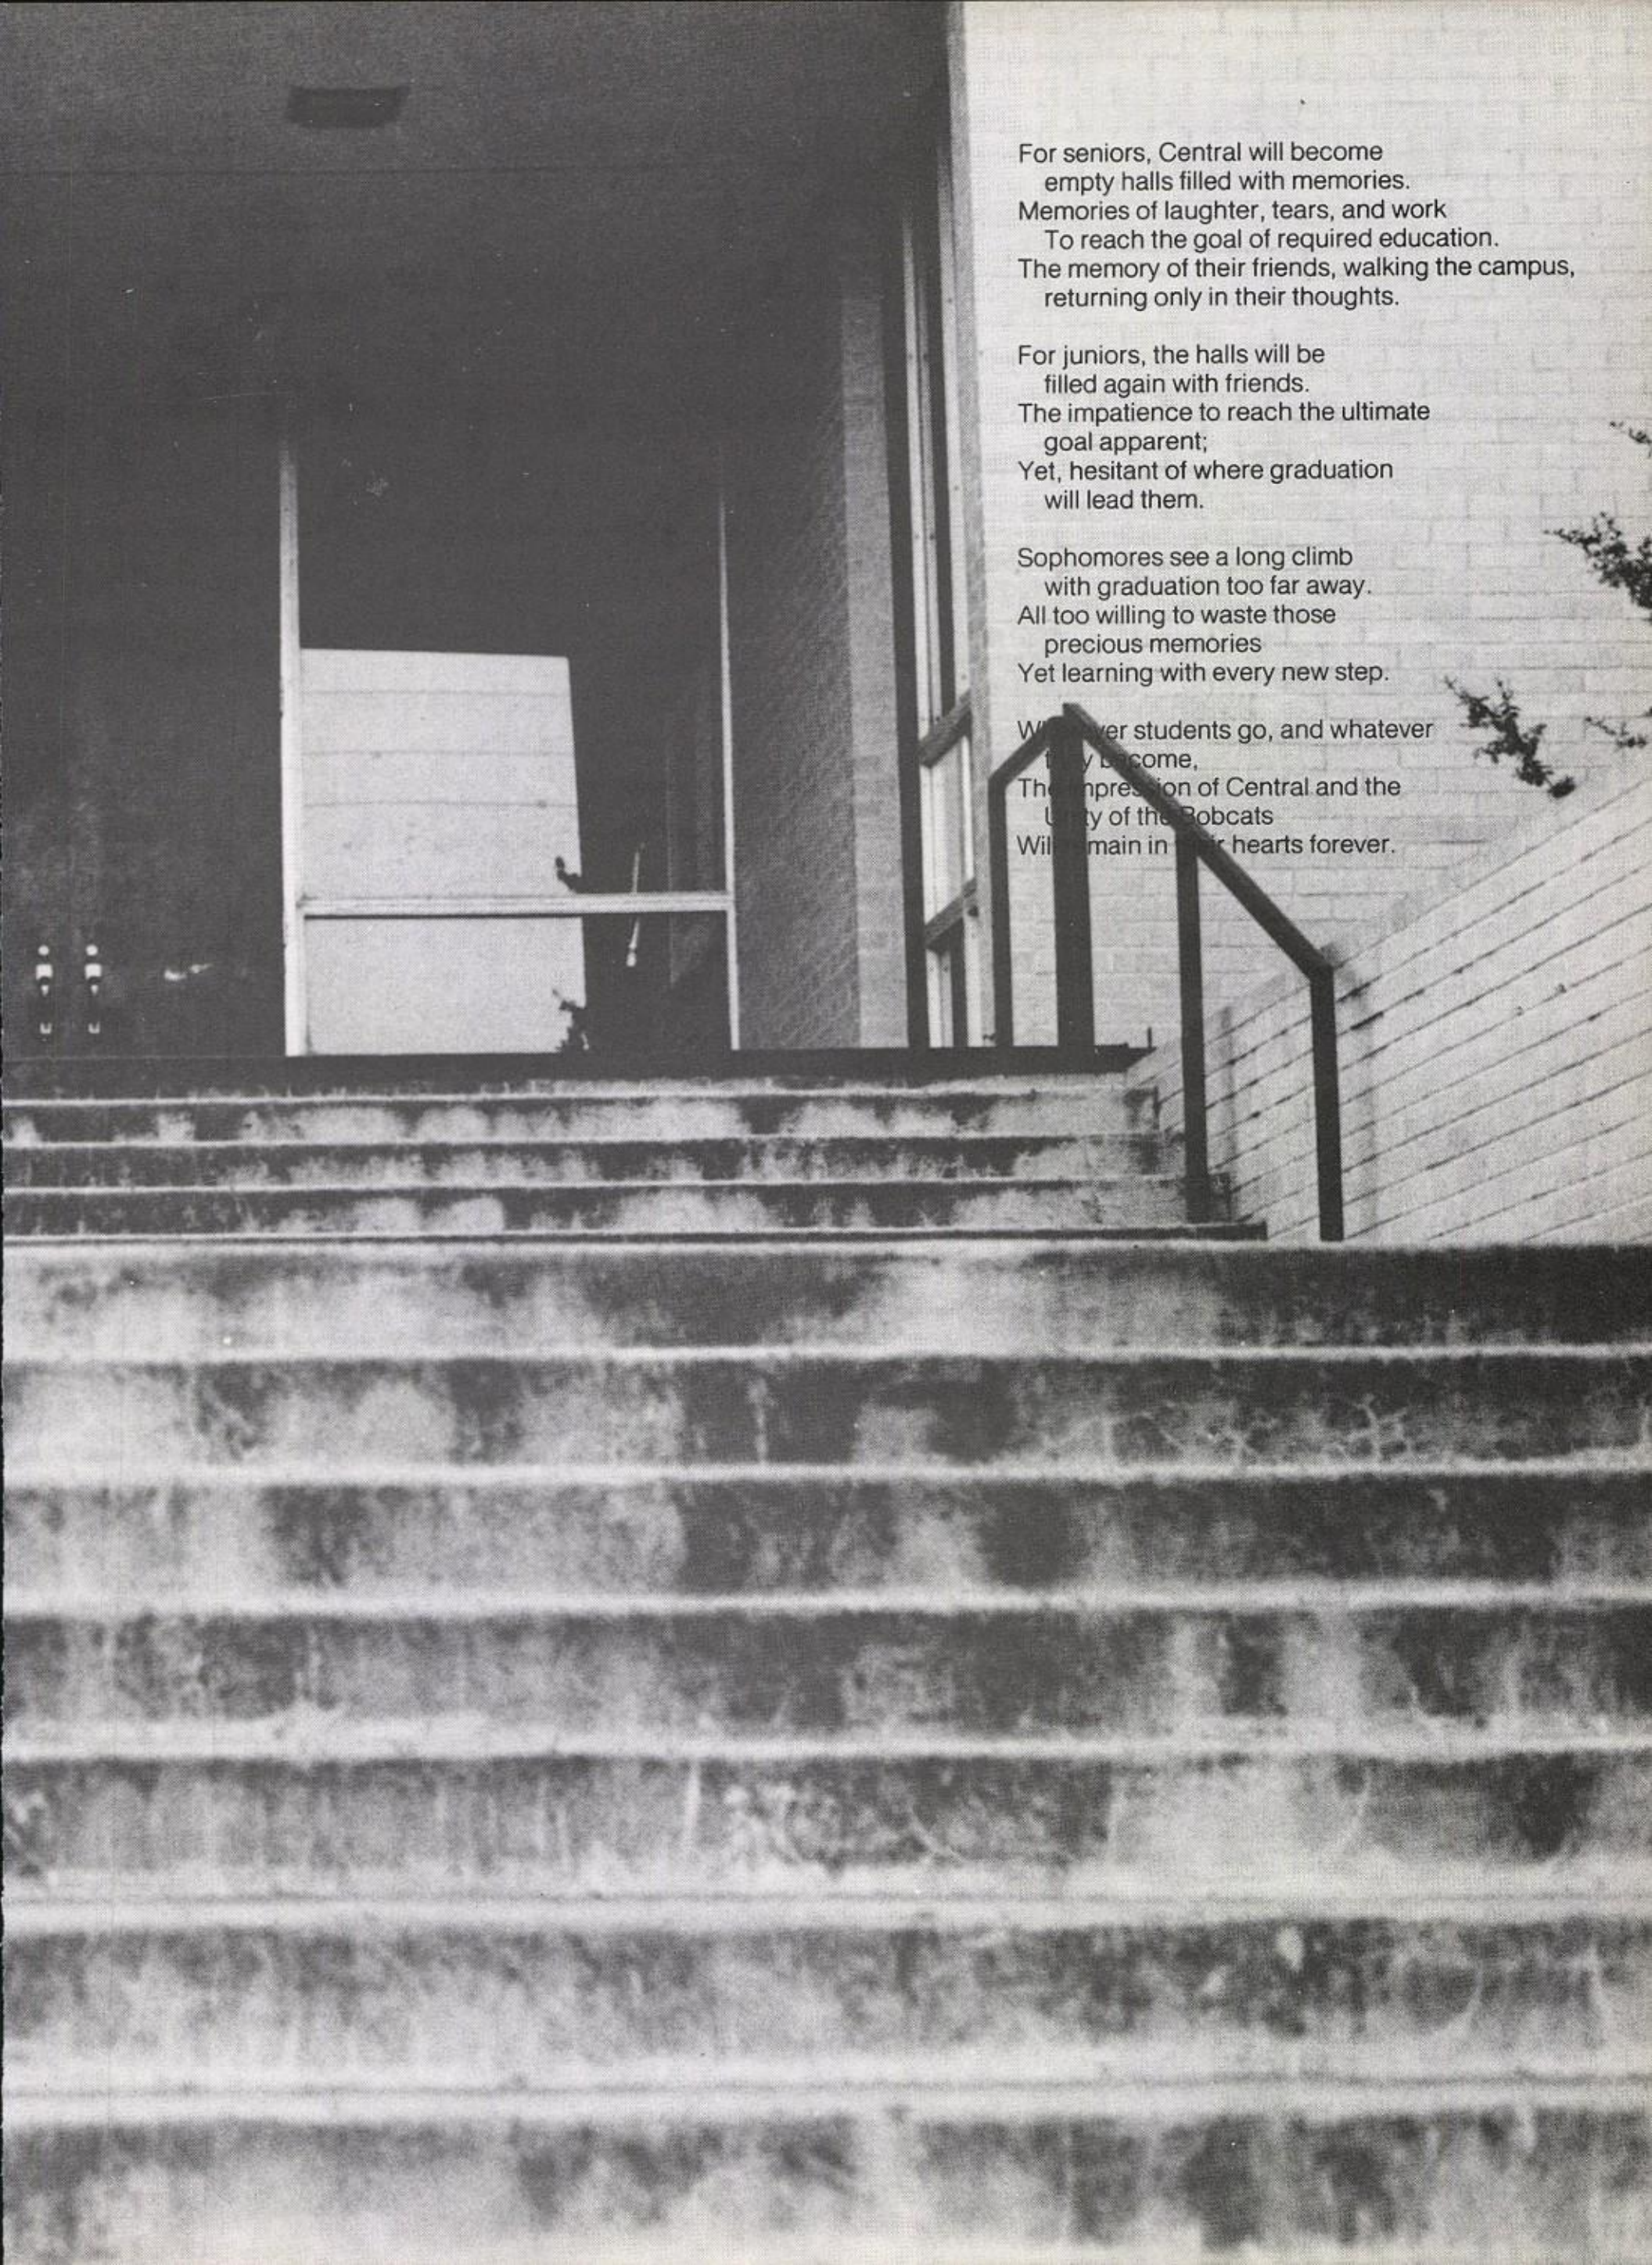

Graduation is something looked forward to for many years, and will be remembered for many years to come.

—Nancy Morrison

For seniors, Central will become empty halls filled with memories.
Memories of laughter, tears, and work
To reach the goal of required education.
The memory of their friends, walking the campus, returning only in their thoughts.

For juniors, the halls will be filled again with friends.
The impatience to reach the ultimate goal apparent;
Yet, hesitant of where graduation will lead them.

Sophomores see a long climb with graduation too far away.
All too willing to waste those precious memories
Yet learning with every new step.

Wherever students go, and whatever they become,
The impression of Central and the Unity of the Bobcats
Will remain in their hearts forever.

Molly Meredith Back at Central After Stint As Exchange Student

In Belem, Brazil, says Molly Meredith, it rains in the summer several times a day, and in the winter it rains only once a day. "That's how the Brazilian can distinguish between summer and winter."

Molly returned to San Angelo after a 10-month stay in Brazil as a Rotary exchange student. Although she found that San Angelo's rainfall does not measure up to that of Belem, she was glad to get back to family, friends, and American food—"especially hamburgers, fried chicken, and Dr. Peppers."

Molly attended school from 1:30 to 6 p.m., studying Portuguese grammar and literature, sociology, psychology, English, geography, French, history, and P.E. Uniforms of a dark brown pleated skirt and beige blouse with the school monogram on it were required.

Leisure-time activities included going to the movies, swimming, and attending a social club which featured dancing to the music of a live band.

Molly enjoyed her stay in Brazil and some day hopes to return and visit the friends she made there.

When Antonio Manuel de Vasconcelos Pereira arrived in San Angelo last October as a Rotary exchange student, he knew about 50 words of English.

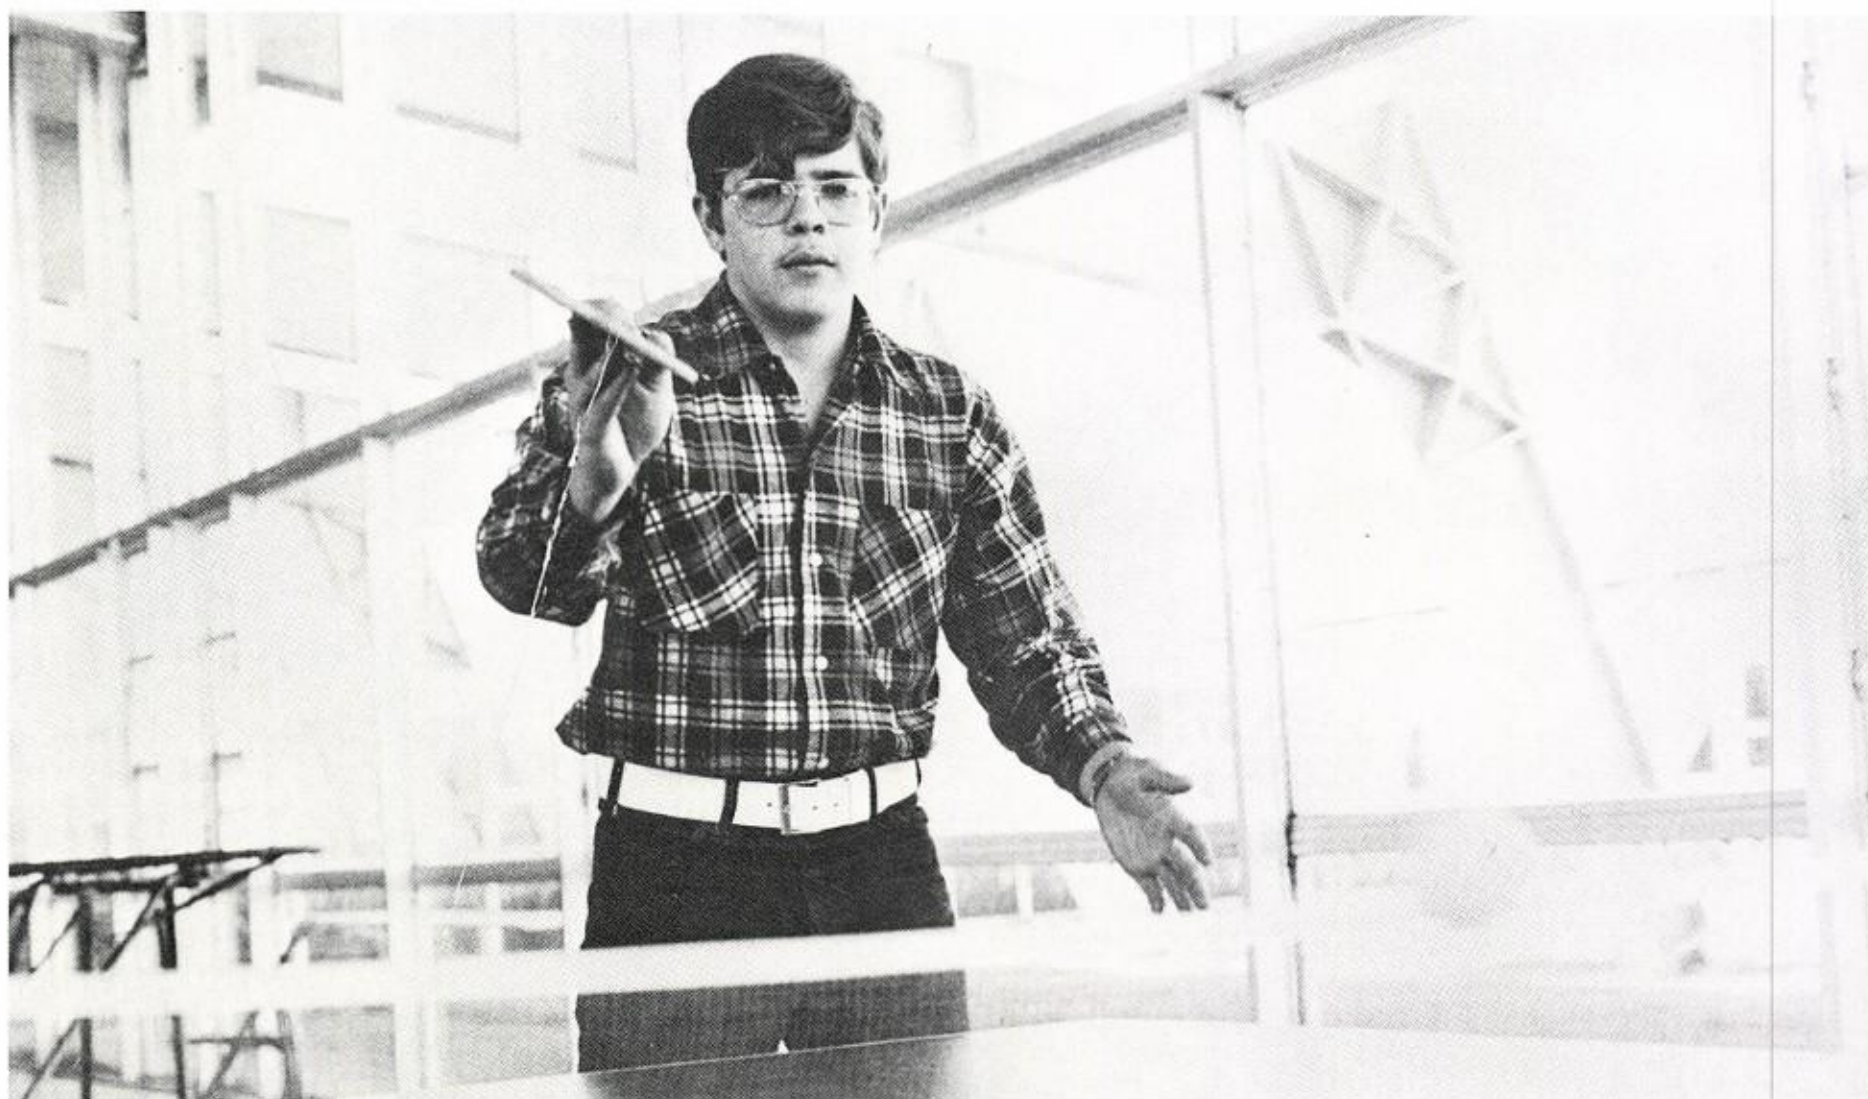

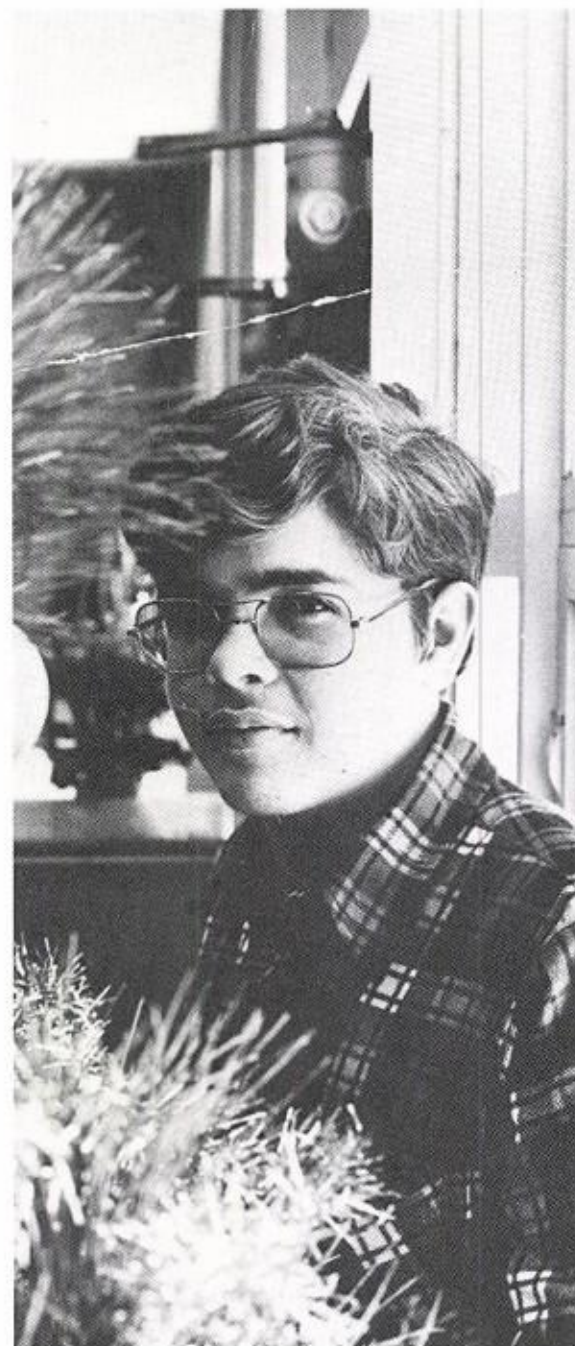

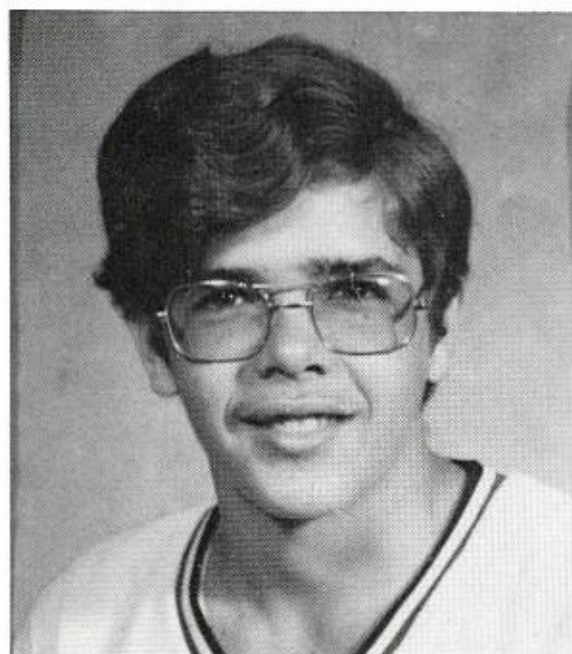

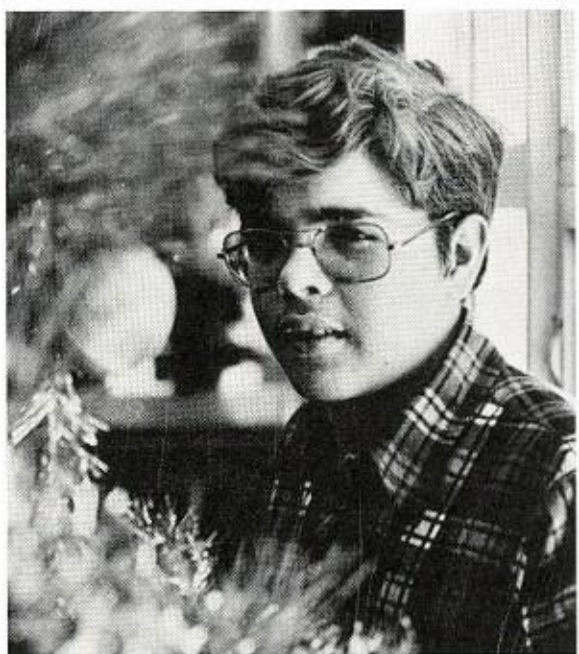

Today, thanks to his year at Central High School and that quaint American institution known as television, Manuel's knowledge of English has vastly improved. He can communicate with a facility that is surprising.

Manuel came to Central from Braganca, Brazil, and under the Rotary program has made his home with several San Angelo families.

A career as an engineer looms large in Manuel's future, but for the present he'll settle for his favorite hobbies—swimming and ping-pong. He has taken side trips to several points of interest in the Southwest—some with the hope of seeing snow.

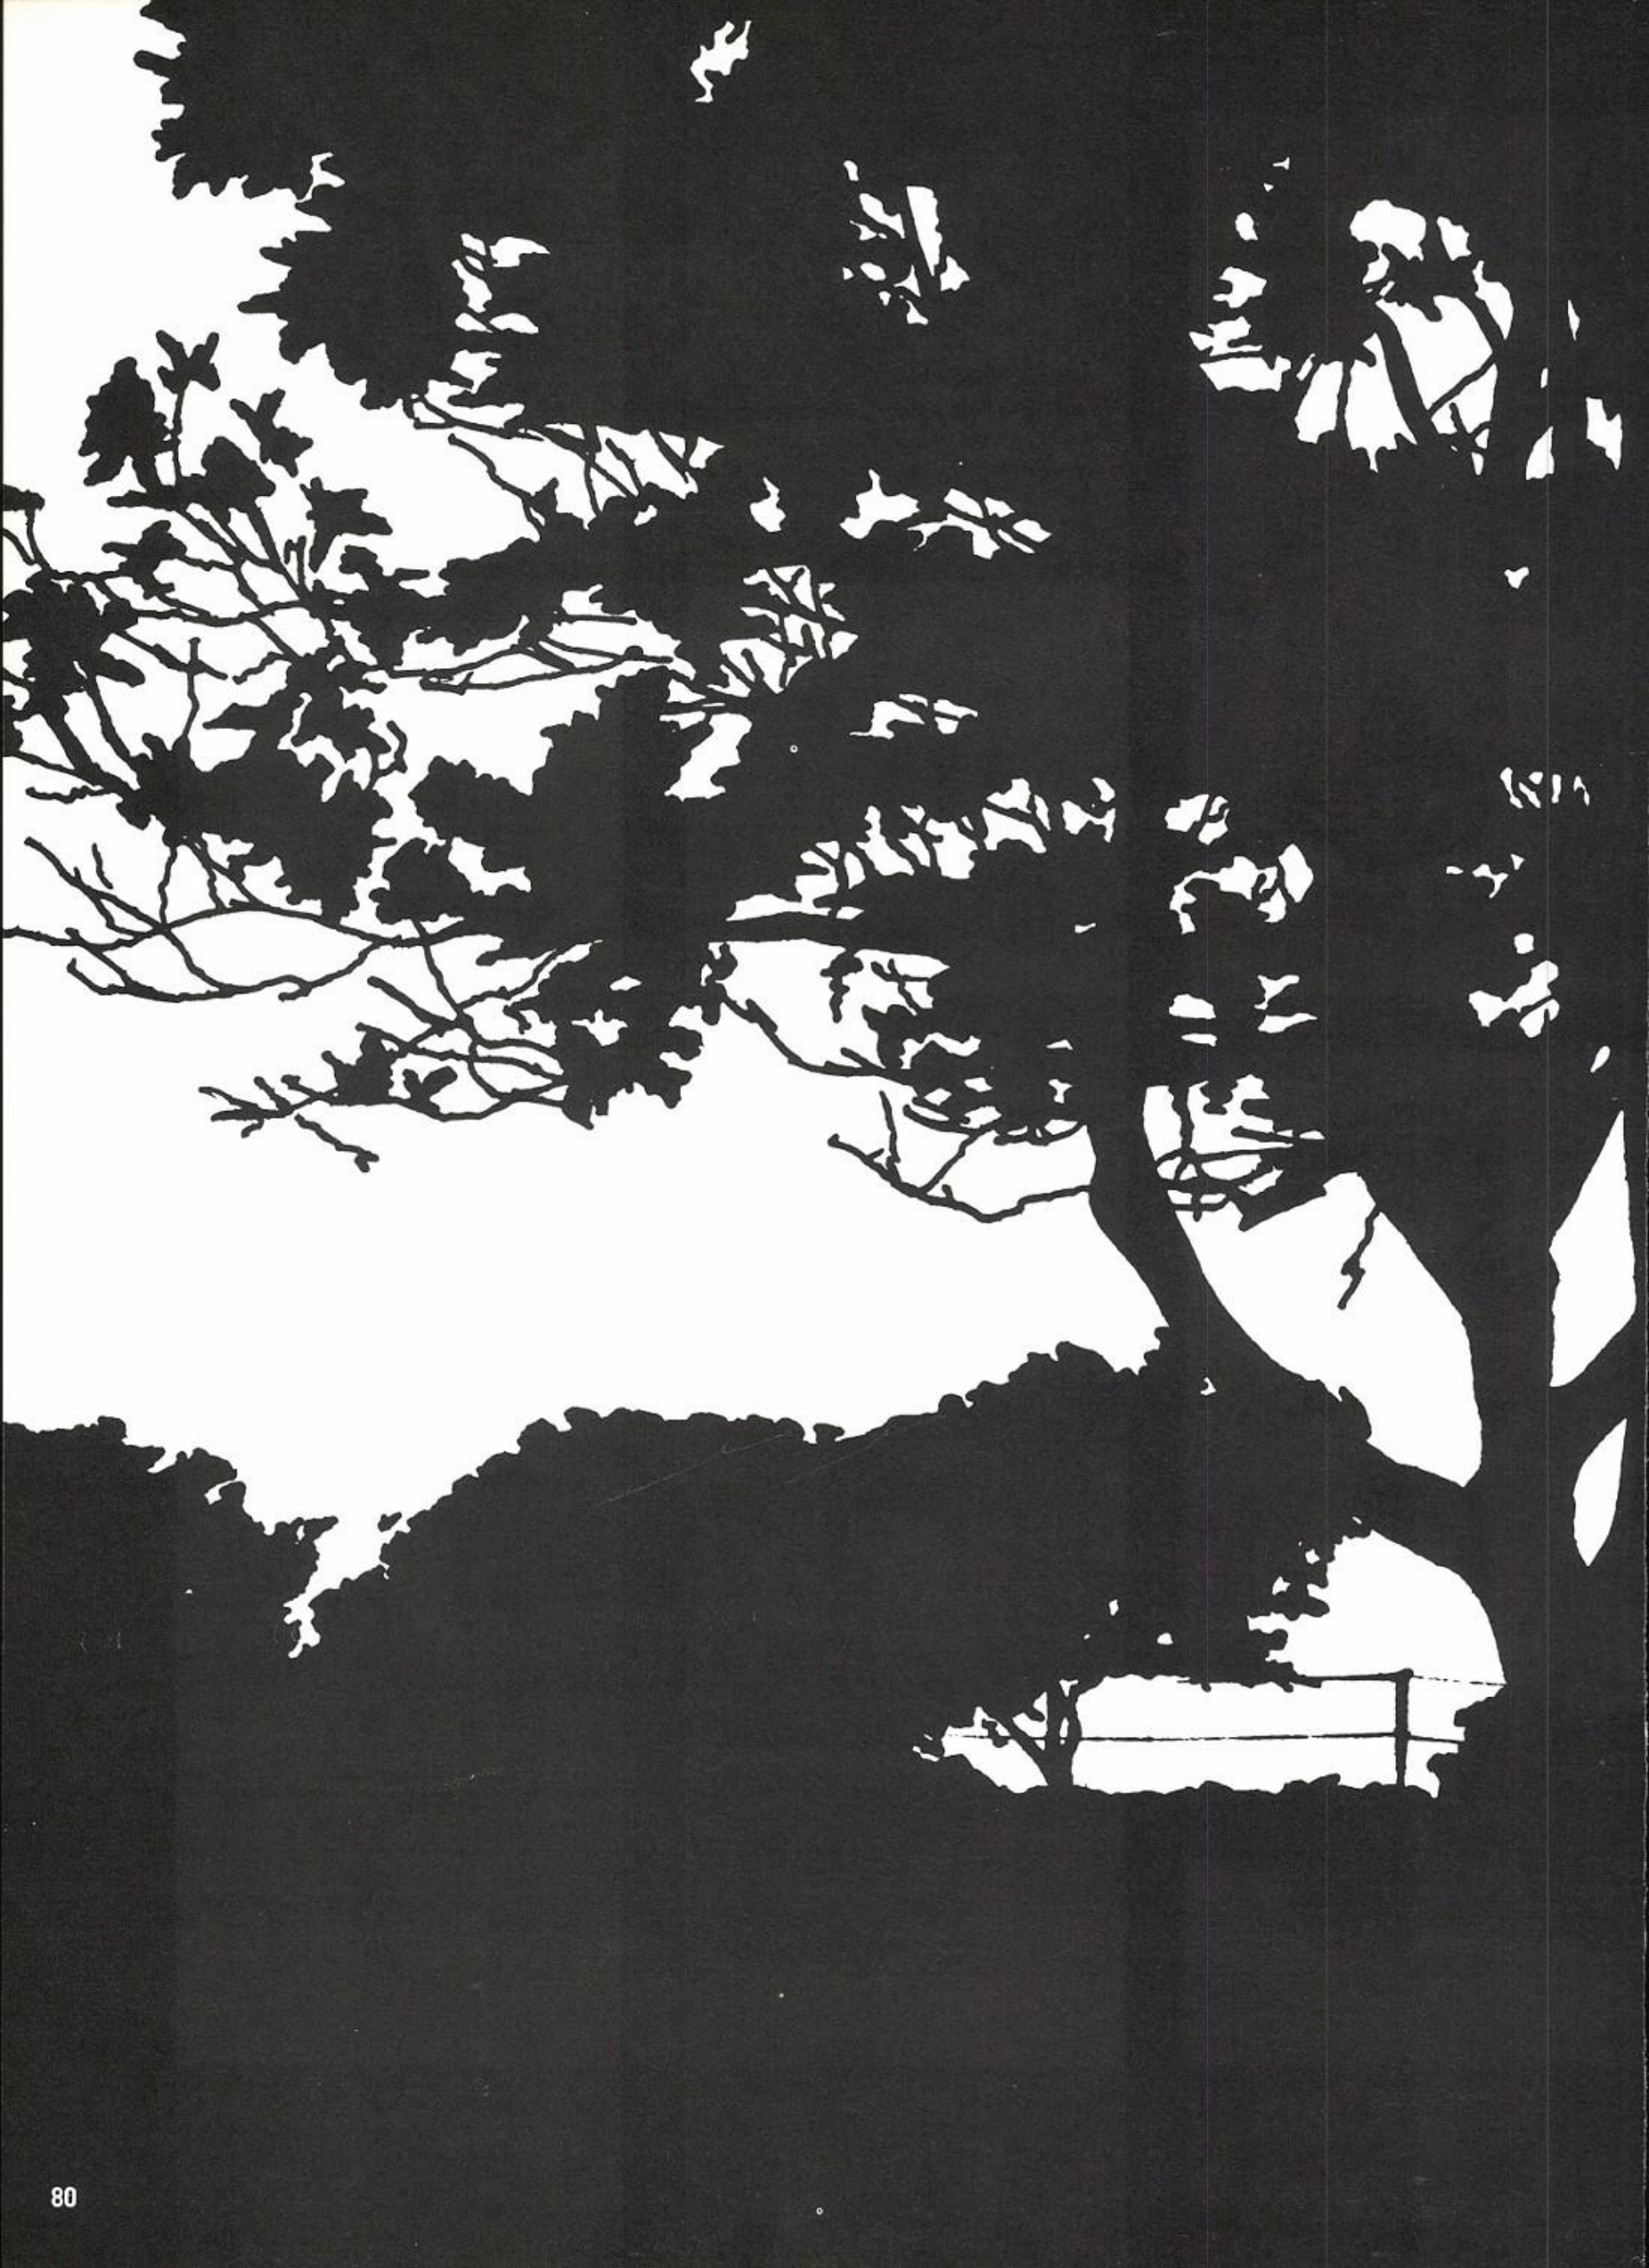

Manuel's school day at Central includes classes in algebra, World History, chemistry, physical education, and English, with algebra being his favorite.

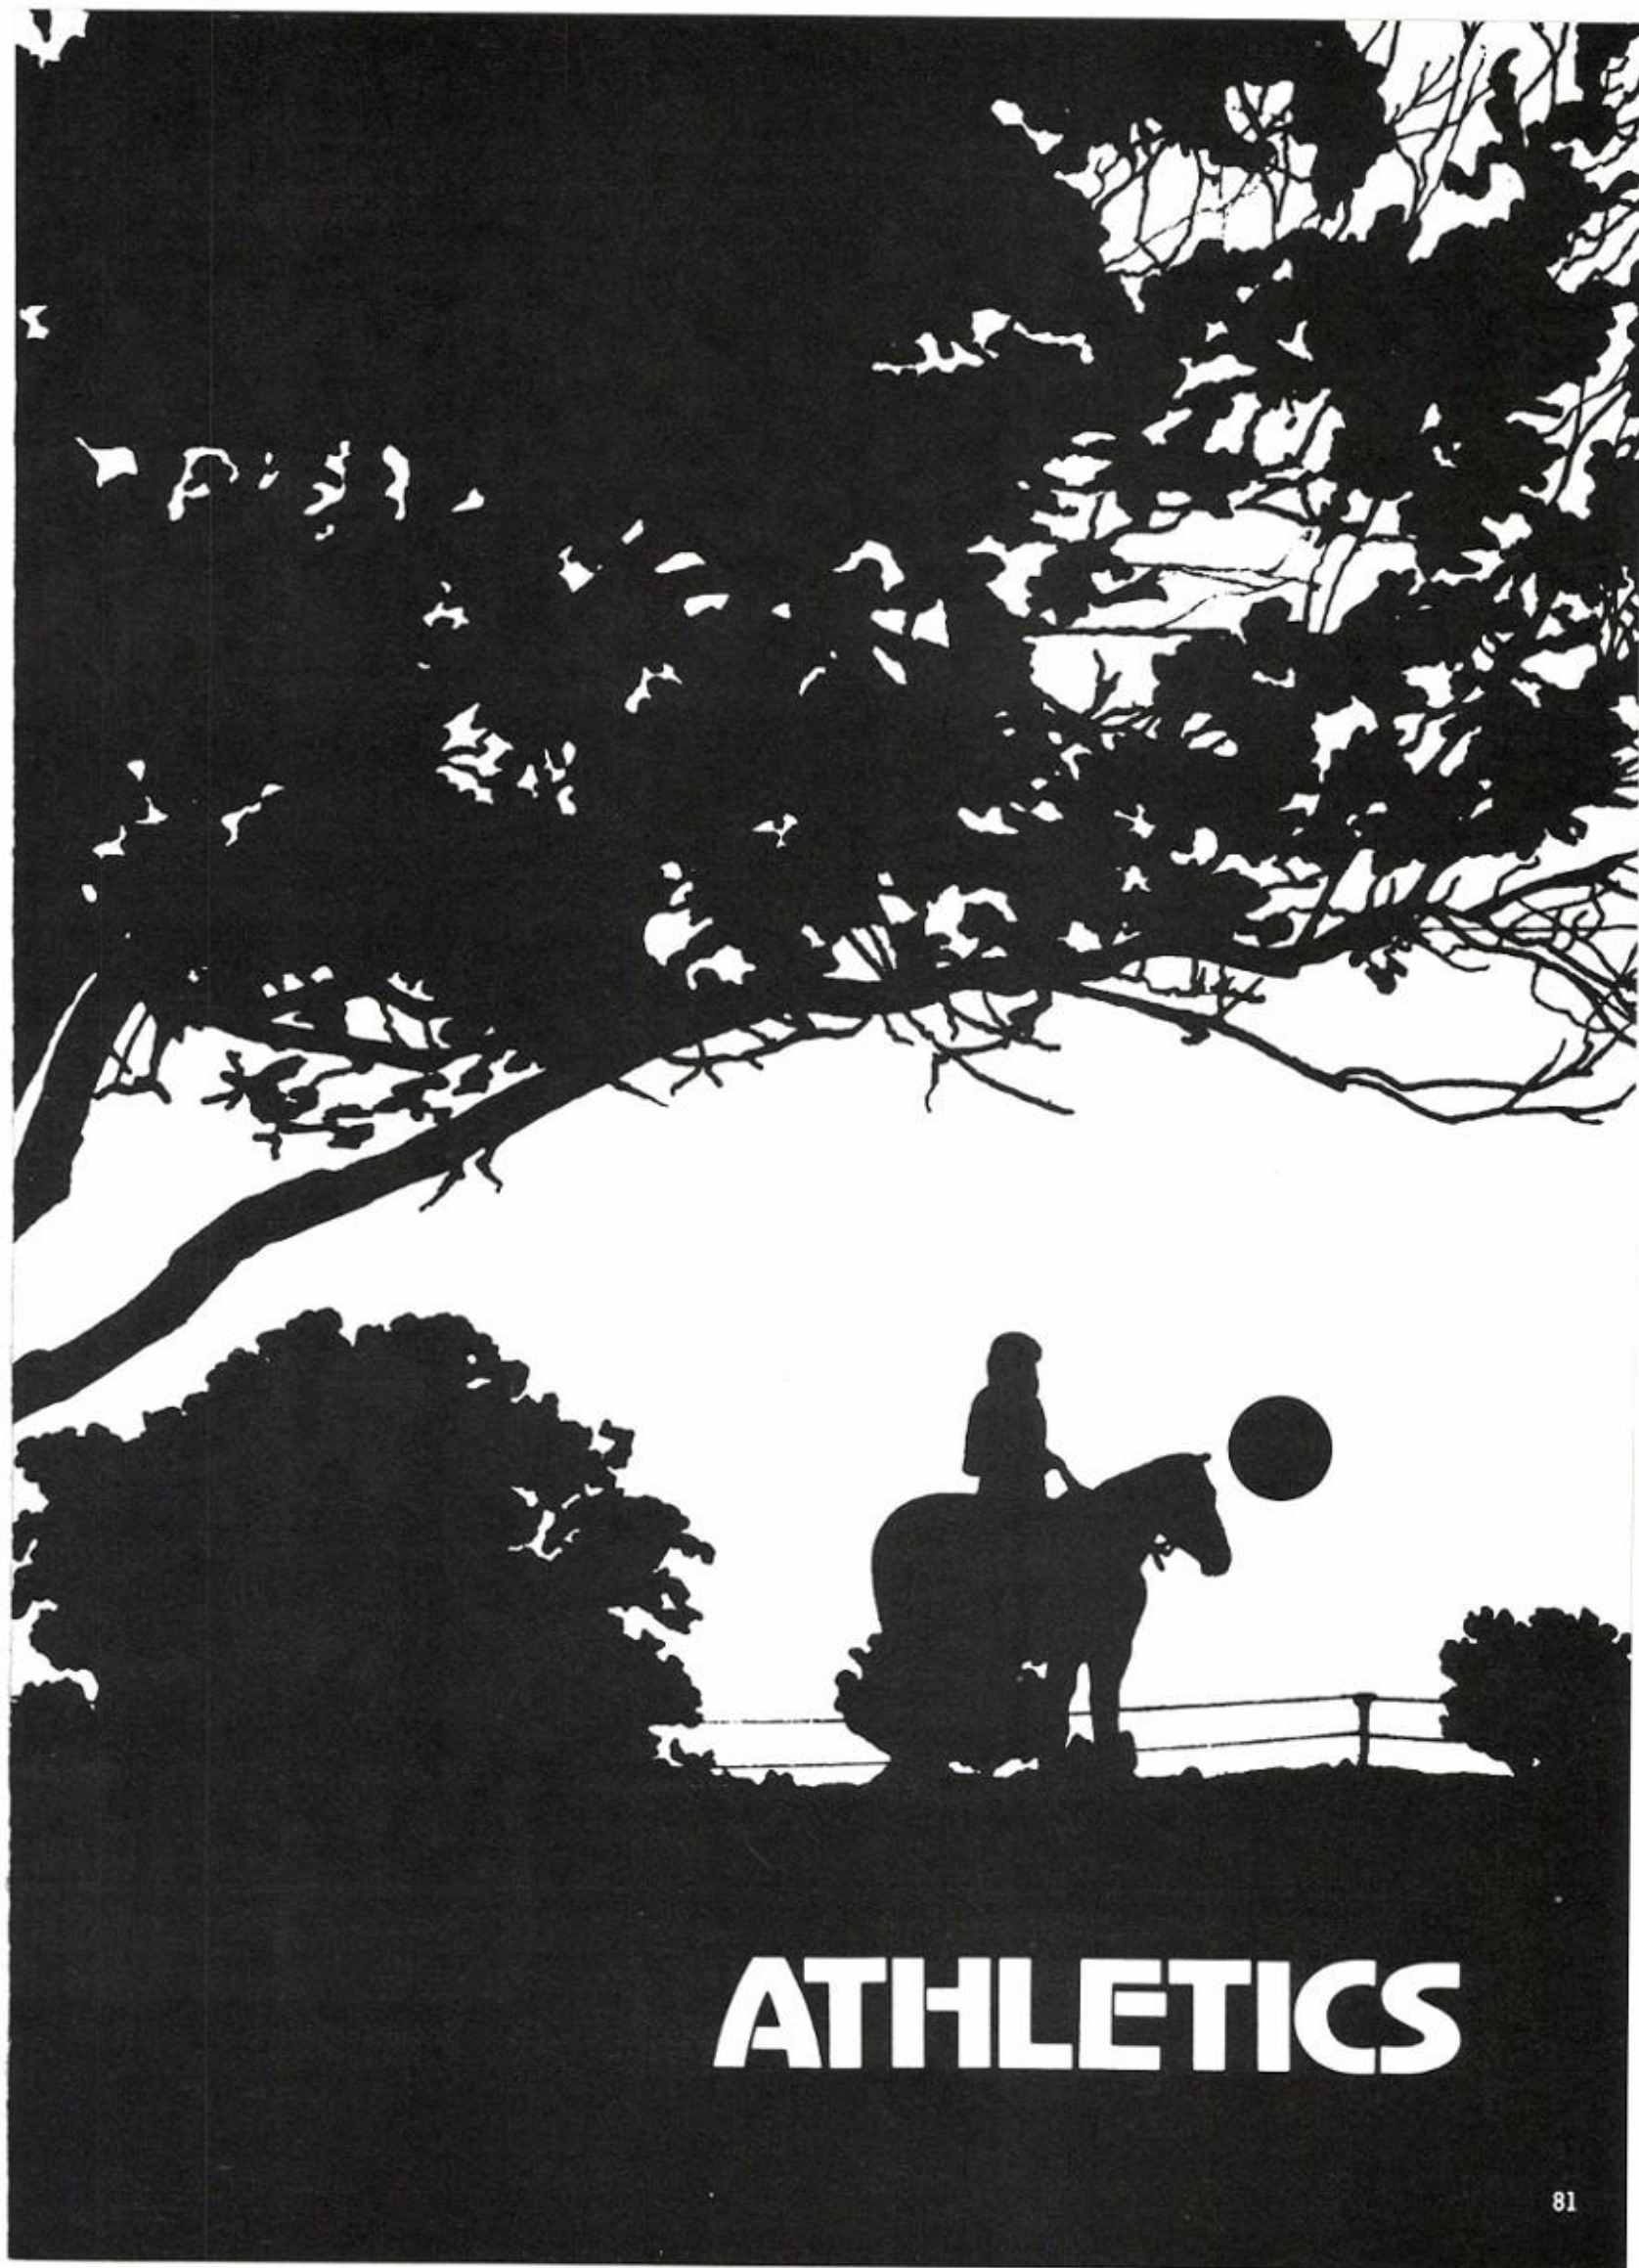

In Appreciation

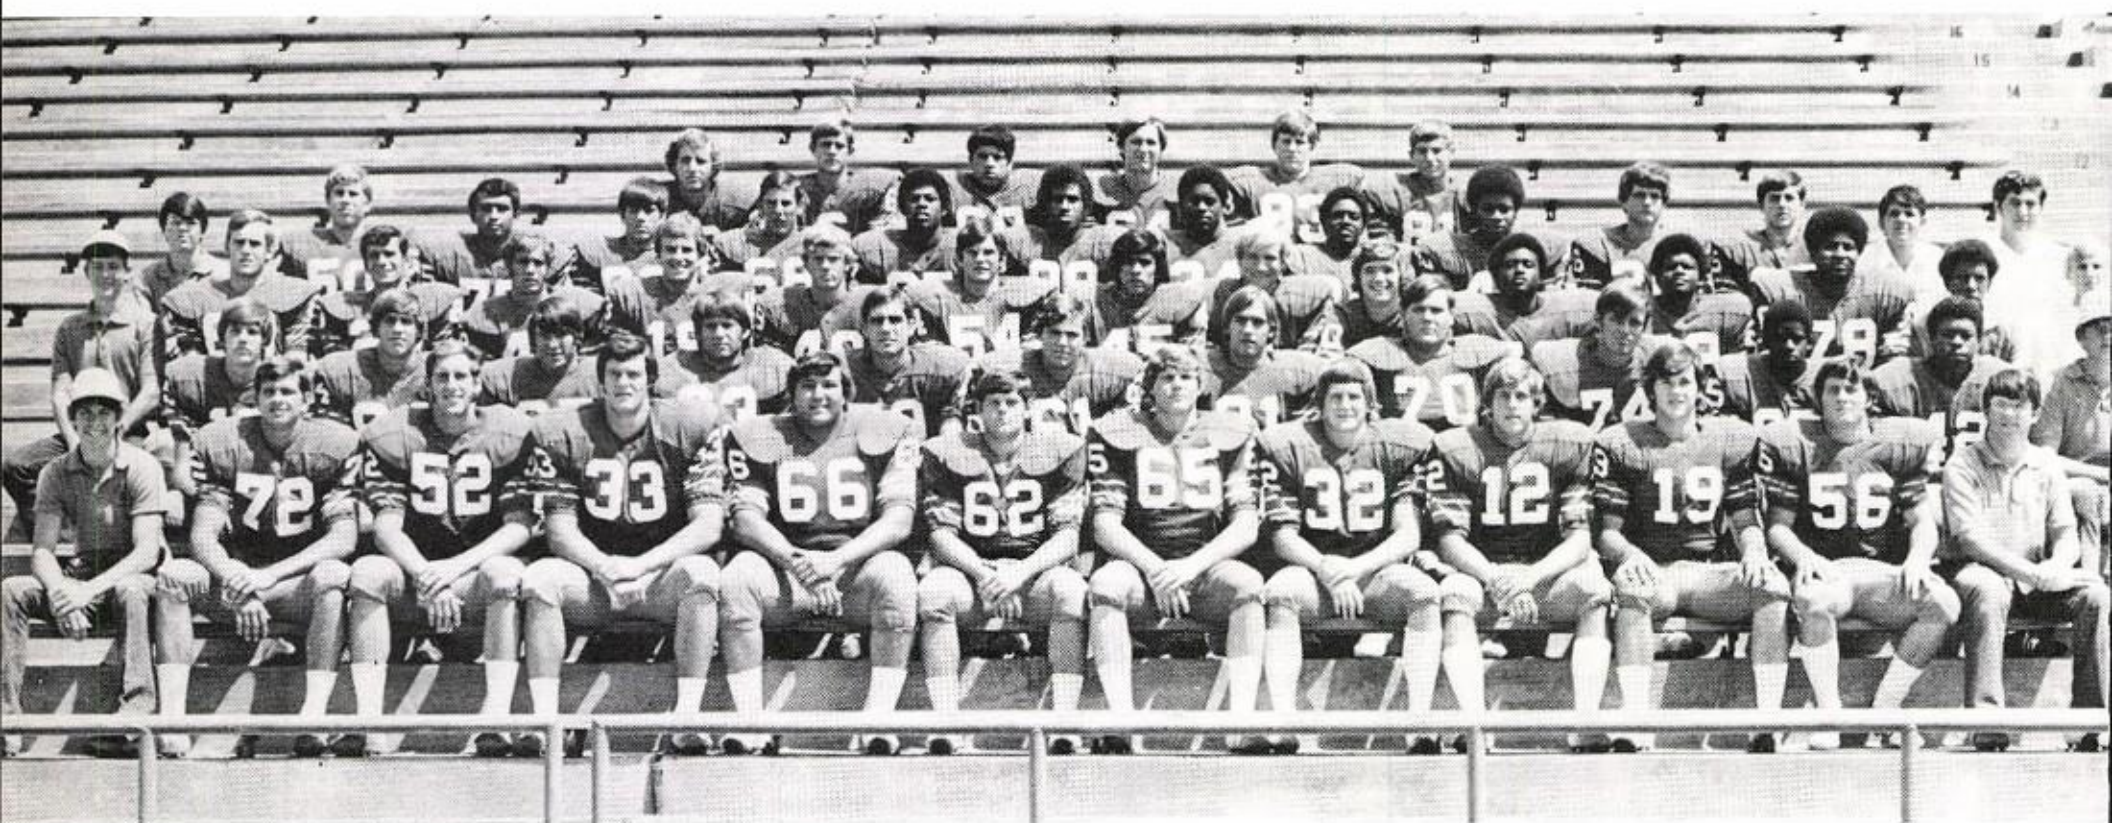

To Mr. G. B. Wadzeck, retiring superintendent, who has guided the San Angelo Public Schools with a steady hand during their period of greatest growth, and in whose mind Central High School was a dream before it became reality, the staff affectionately dedicates the 1974 Westerner. Your shadow will be long, just as you have stood tall in the world of education.

FACULTY

Administration Both Here And Downtown

Downtown, in the administration building at 100 N. Magdalen, may be found a group of men whose decisions affect Central as much if not more than those of the administration on campus. Their policies, recommendations, and regulations give unity and uniformity to the San Angelo Independent School District. Duties of the downtown administrators vary, but it is all supervised by G. B. Wadzeck, superintendent.

There are two assistant superintendents. Dr. James Nevins is in charge of administration, while Lloyd Matson is in charge of personnel. Lee Elder is business administrator. The accounting office is headed by Roland Howard and special services is directed by Rex Lowe. Pupil personnel services are coordinated by Dr. Carroll Click, and special projects are directed by C. D. Henry.

Administration Changes Made

In the 1972-73 school year Central saw several changes in administration. 1973-74 there were still more changes. George S. Faulkner assumed duties as the new principal following retirement of Minton L. White.

Joe Graham's assignment was shifted from that of assistant principal in charge of attendance to registrar, vacated by Faulkner's reassignment. Jesse Eckles joined the staff to take over Graham's former duties as assistant principal. Hans Hagelstein continued in his post as director of student activities.

These men are responsible for all of Central's functions, and see to it that the school's program in all phases run smoothly.

Variety of Jobs Done by Aides

Everything from filing to the maintenance of Central's audio-visual equipment is taken care of by aides, secretaries, and other non-certified personnel.

These people do the work that contributes greatly to keeping Central functioning. Most departments have their own aides or secretaries who see to such duties as typing or assisting in keeping records. Other non-certified personnel work in the office area.

Without their day-by-day conscientious efforts, faculty members would find that a large part of their day would be devoted to clerical work rather than teaching.

New Mini-Courses Offered in Art

Something new has been added to Central's curriculum — Mini-Courses in Art. These mini-courses cover printmaking, textiles, ceramics, jewelry, sculpture, mosaics, and construction. Throughout the year students are free to explore all areas offered.

Classes of Art I, II, and III work progressively, concentrating on basic color, shape, and design, thus establishing a foundation for later experimentation with different media and techniques.

Offering students a combination of expression, flexibility, appreciation and experience, the Art Department gives the Centralite opportunity to find an interest in art—and in himself.

Business Courses Give Foundation

No, this is not a tap dance. It is a typing class, one area of the Central business department. Business courses are designed to develop the student's secretarial and accounting skills.

Business courses open to students include Bookkeeping, Business Arithmetic, Shorthand, and Typewriting I and II.

In Typing I and II, students are prepared for vocational typing. In Bookkeeping, skills which enable students to satisfactorily keep personal and business accounts are taught. Business Arithmetic emphasizes short cuts in estimating forms of arithmetical data. The shorthand course develops sufficient skill for personal or business use.

Through the business department, interested Central students may lay foundation for a future career in commerce.

Counselors Offer Help to Students

Central counselors, headed by Oscar Gomez, are available to students daily to help with any problems they might have. From their offices in the Counseling Center, they plan and administer tests, approve work permits, arrange and change schedules and counsel students on a variety of problems.

Counselors this year include Gomez, Dr. J. T. Morrow, Ollie Kuykendall, and Fern Smathers.

Another person who contributes greatly to the counseling program is Joyce Hood. She is secretary and general assistant to the counselors.

All Central counselors have at least three years of teaching experience and a master's degree in counseling.

Driver Ed Offers Insurance Saving

Driver Education is designed to teach students the technical and mechanical aspects of driving.

There are four phases of the Central Driver Education program, including lecture, simulator, range, and on-street driving.

After a student finishes the classroom phase successfully, he may apply for a license which permits him to drive when accompanied by a licensed driver age 21 or over. When a student successfully completes the entire program he may apply for removal of the restriction at age 16.

Texas law allows for a 10 per cent reduction in insurance rates for males under 25 who have successfully completed the entire Driver Education program.

English Studied by All Students

"To be or not to be" is not the question for Central English students. English is one of the few courses requiring three years of study. Each grade level has a combination of grammar, literature, and composition.

English II deals with fundamental grammar and the application of the fundamentals in writing. Literature and its relation to history also is studied.

English III reviews grammar and surveys American literature. Required composition includes themes about selected American works.

English IV is a college preparatory course, with special emphasis on needed grammar and sentence structure. Writers and the English literature background also are explored.

Language Student Has Choice of 4

For the student wishing to speak languages other than English, Central offers several different foreign languages. They include French I, II, and III; German I, II, and III; Latin I, II, III; and Spanish I, II, III, and IV.

French, German, and Spanish basically are taught the same way, with first-year classes using reading and writing to develop necessary skills. Second year expands and continues the study begun in the first-year course. Third-year students develop their skills through intensive practice in vocabulary, both written and oral.

Latin I is presented with a study of the basic grammar fundamentals. In Latin II students develop skills by reading from literary selections. Latin III is more advanced reading.

Students "learn by hearing" in the Central foreign language laboratory.

Journalism Gives Staff Experience

Do you know what a chase is? Or a morgue? How about a galley, or a dummy?

Chances are you flunked this little quiz — journalistically speaking, that is.

The language of journalism is only one of the many things that Central journalism students learn to cope with. Journalism I is an introduction to the basic techniques of journalism, exploring such areas as the news story, feature story, headlines, and makeup.

Journalism II is a continuation of Journalism I, with emphasis on mastery of skills to which the student has been introduced.

The journalism room also is the home of the school newspaper and yearbook. It is where the Campus Corral and the Westerner staffs meet during fifth and sixth periods daily, with occasional deadline demands requiring a seventh and even an eighth or ninth period.

Ed Cole is sponsor of the two publications and teacher of both Journalism I and II.

Library Affords Study, Reading

Mrs. Clara Poteet and Miss Billie Usher are in charge of Central's library. They are assisted by Mrs. Opal Shuffield and Cindy Alcala, a vocational student who works on a half-day basis.

With approximately 20,000 books on its shelves, the library is available to help a student with an assignment or just for leisure reading. The library is open Monday through Friday from 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and on Tuesday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m.

Books may be checked out for two weeks.

Those planning a career in engineering, science, or some other occupation involving higher mathematics are offered courses in Trigonometry, Elementary Analysis I and II, and Analytic Geometry.

Those interested in practical math easily applicable to every-day living may take the Fundamentals of Mathematics I and II, Consumer Mathematics, or Mathematics of Consumer Economics.

Also available are Introductory Algebra I and II, Algebra I and II, and Geometry.

Music-Minded Offered Variety

Central offers a number of courses in which a student may cultivate and express his musical abilities.

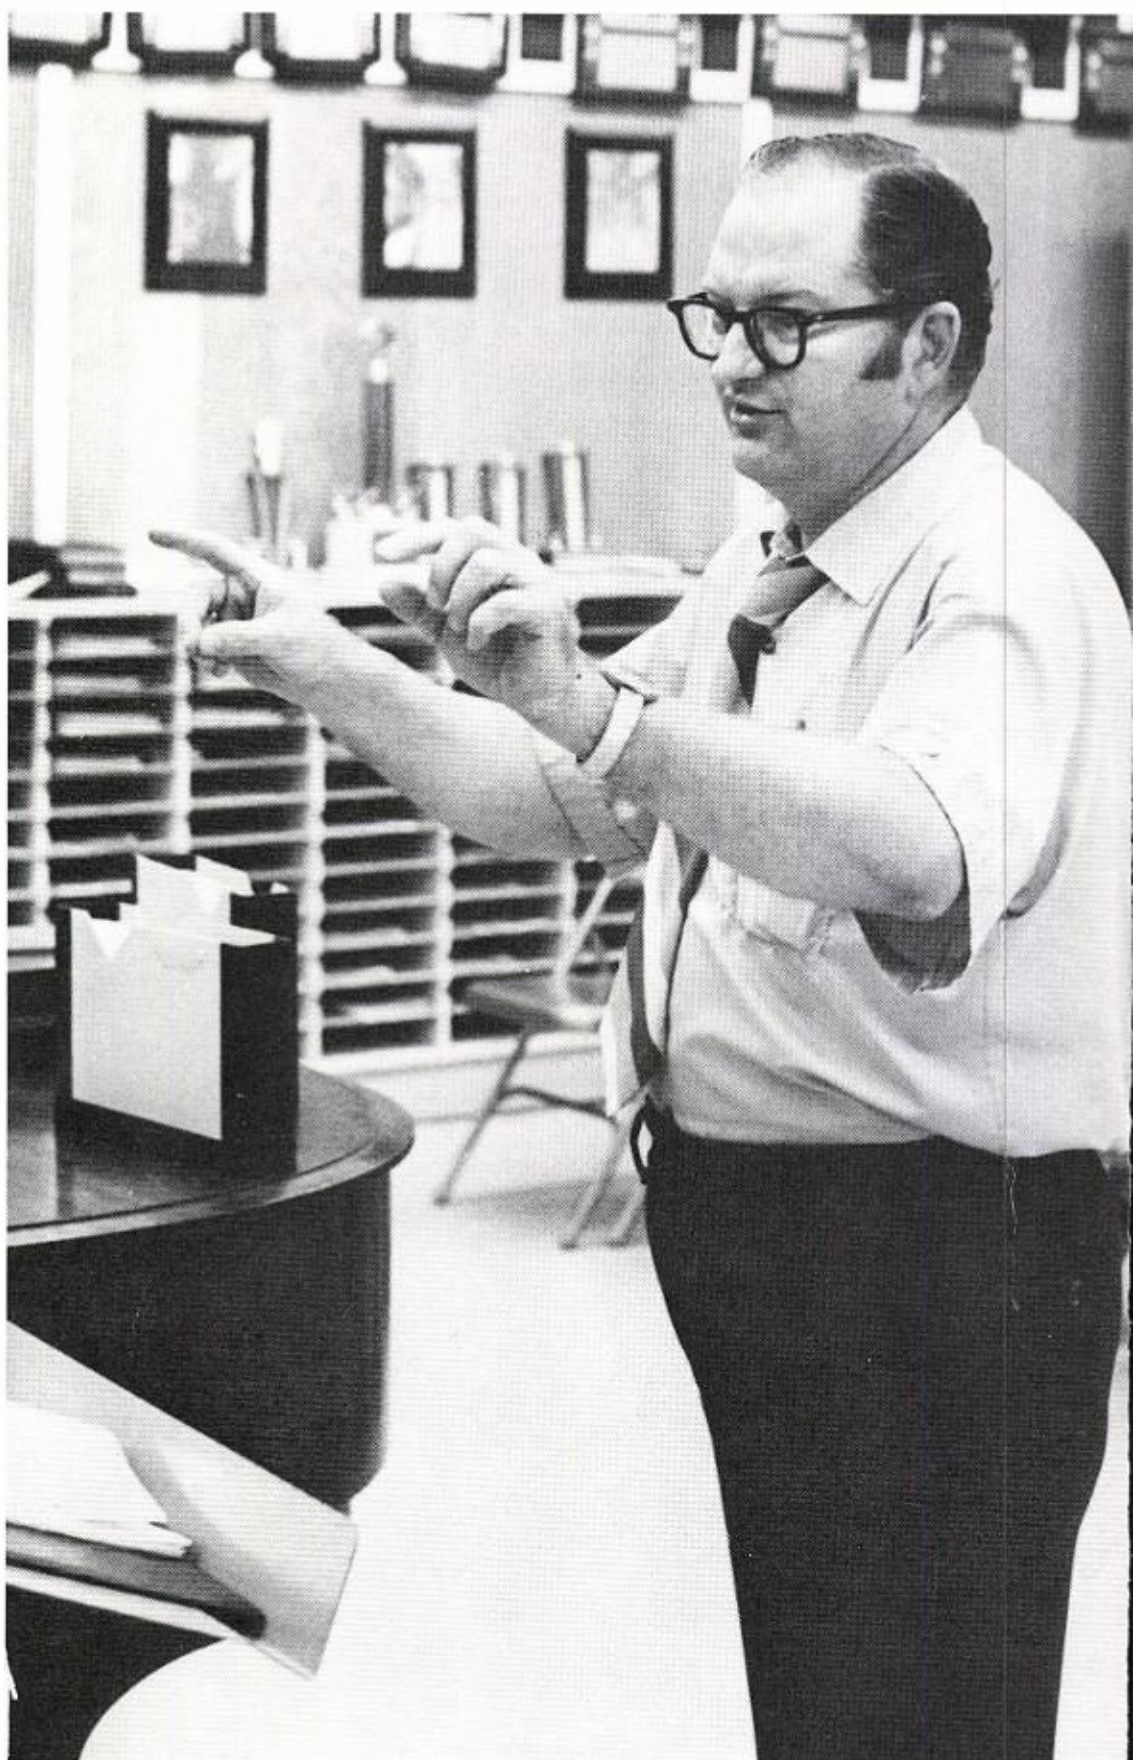

In the choral music department the student is placed in one of seven choirs after private audition. The choirs are Chorale, Male Chorus, Girls A Cappella, Swing Choir, Sophomore Girls, Mixed Choir, and Sophomore Mixed Choir.

Instrumental training is offered in "A" Band, "A" Orchestra, and Instrumental Music.

Music Theory I and II are designed for all students who intend to pursue further the study of music.

Music History and Literature teaches the historical development of the art of music.

Whatever his interest, the music-minded student can find a course tailored to fit his needs.

Health Mandatory for All Students

Under mandate of the Texas Education Agency, a course in Health now is a "must" for all first-year high school students. In this Health class the student is taught good health practices and basic first aid.

In addition to Health, the Central physical education department also offers swimming, gymnastics, tennis, bowling, golf, badminton, volleyball, soft ball, basketball, and archery.

The student also may choose from among eight organized team sports to meet his physical education requirement. They include golf, football, basketball, baseball, track and field, gymnastics, tennis, and swimming.

Science Courses Meet Each Need

Whether it be to fill the minimum two-credit requirement for graduation or as a step toward a science-related career, Central's science department stands ready to meet the needs of each student.

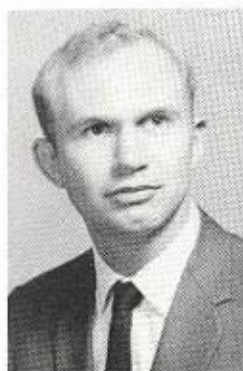

Students may enroll in Biology, Chemistry, Environmental Health Science, Physics, Non-Technical Physics, and Advanced Science.

Biology is the study of living things and how they relate to their environment, while Chemistry is the study of matter, metals, non-metals, their compounds, and certain related laws and theories.

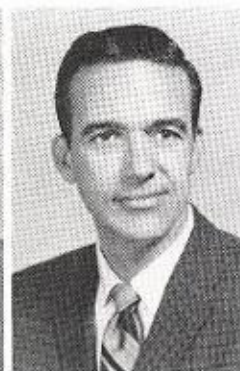

— The Environmental Health Science Course is a study of the water and waste-water systems of the City of San Angelo.

Physics and Non-Technical Physics encompass all physical laws and principles.

Advanced Science covers the elements of Chemistry, Physics, and Biology.

Electives Offered in Social Studies

In social studies students learn about the world, their country, their government, and themselves.

To meet this challenge, Central offers a variety of social studies courses. Every student is required to take World History, American History, and Government as requirements toward graduation.

If he wishes to pursue his studies further in the field, he may choose from among Bible History, Economics, Advanced Texas Studies, and Sociology.

Only by understanding the past can we explain the present and anticipate the future. This, alone, justifies as much or more emphasis as is placed on the study of social studies in the curriculum.

Special Education Program Is Varied

For the third year, Central is participating in the Texas Education Agency's Plan A, a cooperative project between Special Education teachers and teachers in other subject areas.

Under Plan A, Special Education students are enrolled in regular classes where possible, rather than receive instruction in segregated groups. The aim here is to get these students back into the mainstream of public school education.

Other phases of Plan A include a joint project with the U. S. Corps of Engineers under which a number of boys work at various jobs in the North Concho Lake area; the Vocational Adjustment Coordination Program where students receive school credit for working at various jobs; the Vocational Building Maintenance program; and the Home and Family Living Program.

Speech Instructs, Develops Skills

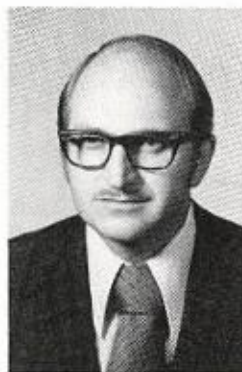

Everyone has to speak, and the speech classes give Central students opportunity to learn the fundamentals of speech and develop their skills.

Speech I is a fundamental course designed to build a student's self-confidence, teach the mechanics, and show purpose and methods of speech.

Speech II develops the skills taught in Speech I. Special emphasis is given to kinds of extemporaneous speeches, and oral interpretation.

Debate students travel over Texas participating in tournaments, to the extent allowed by the energy crisis.

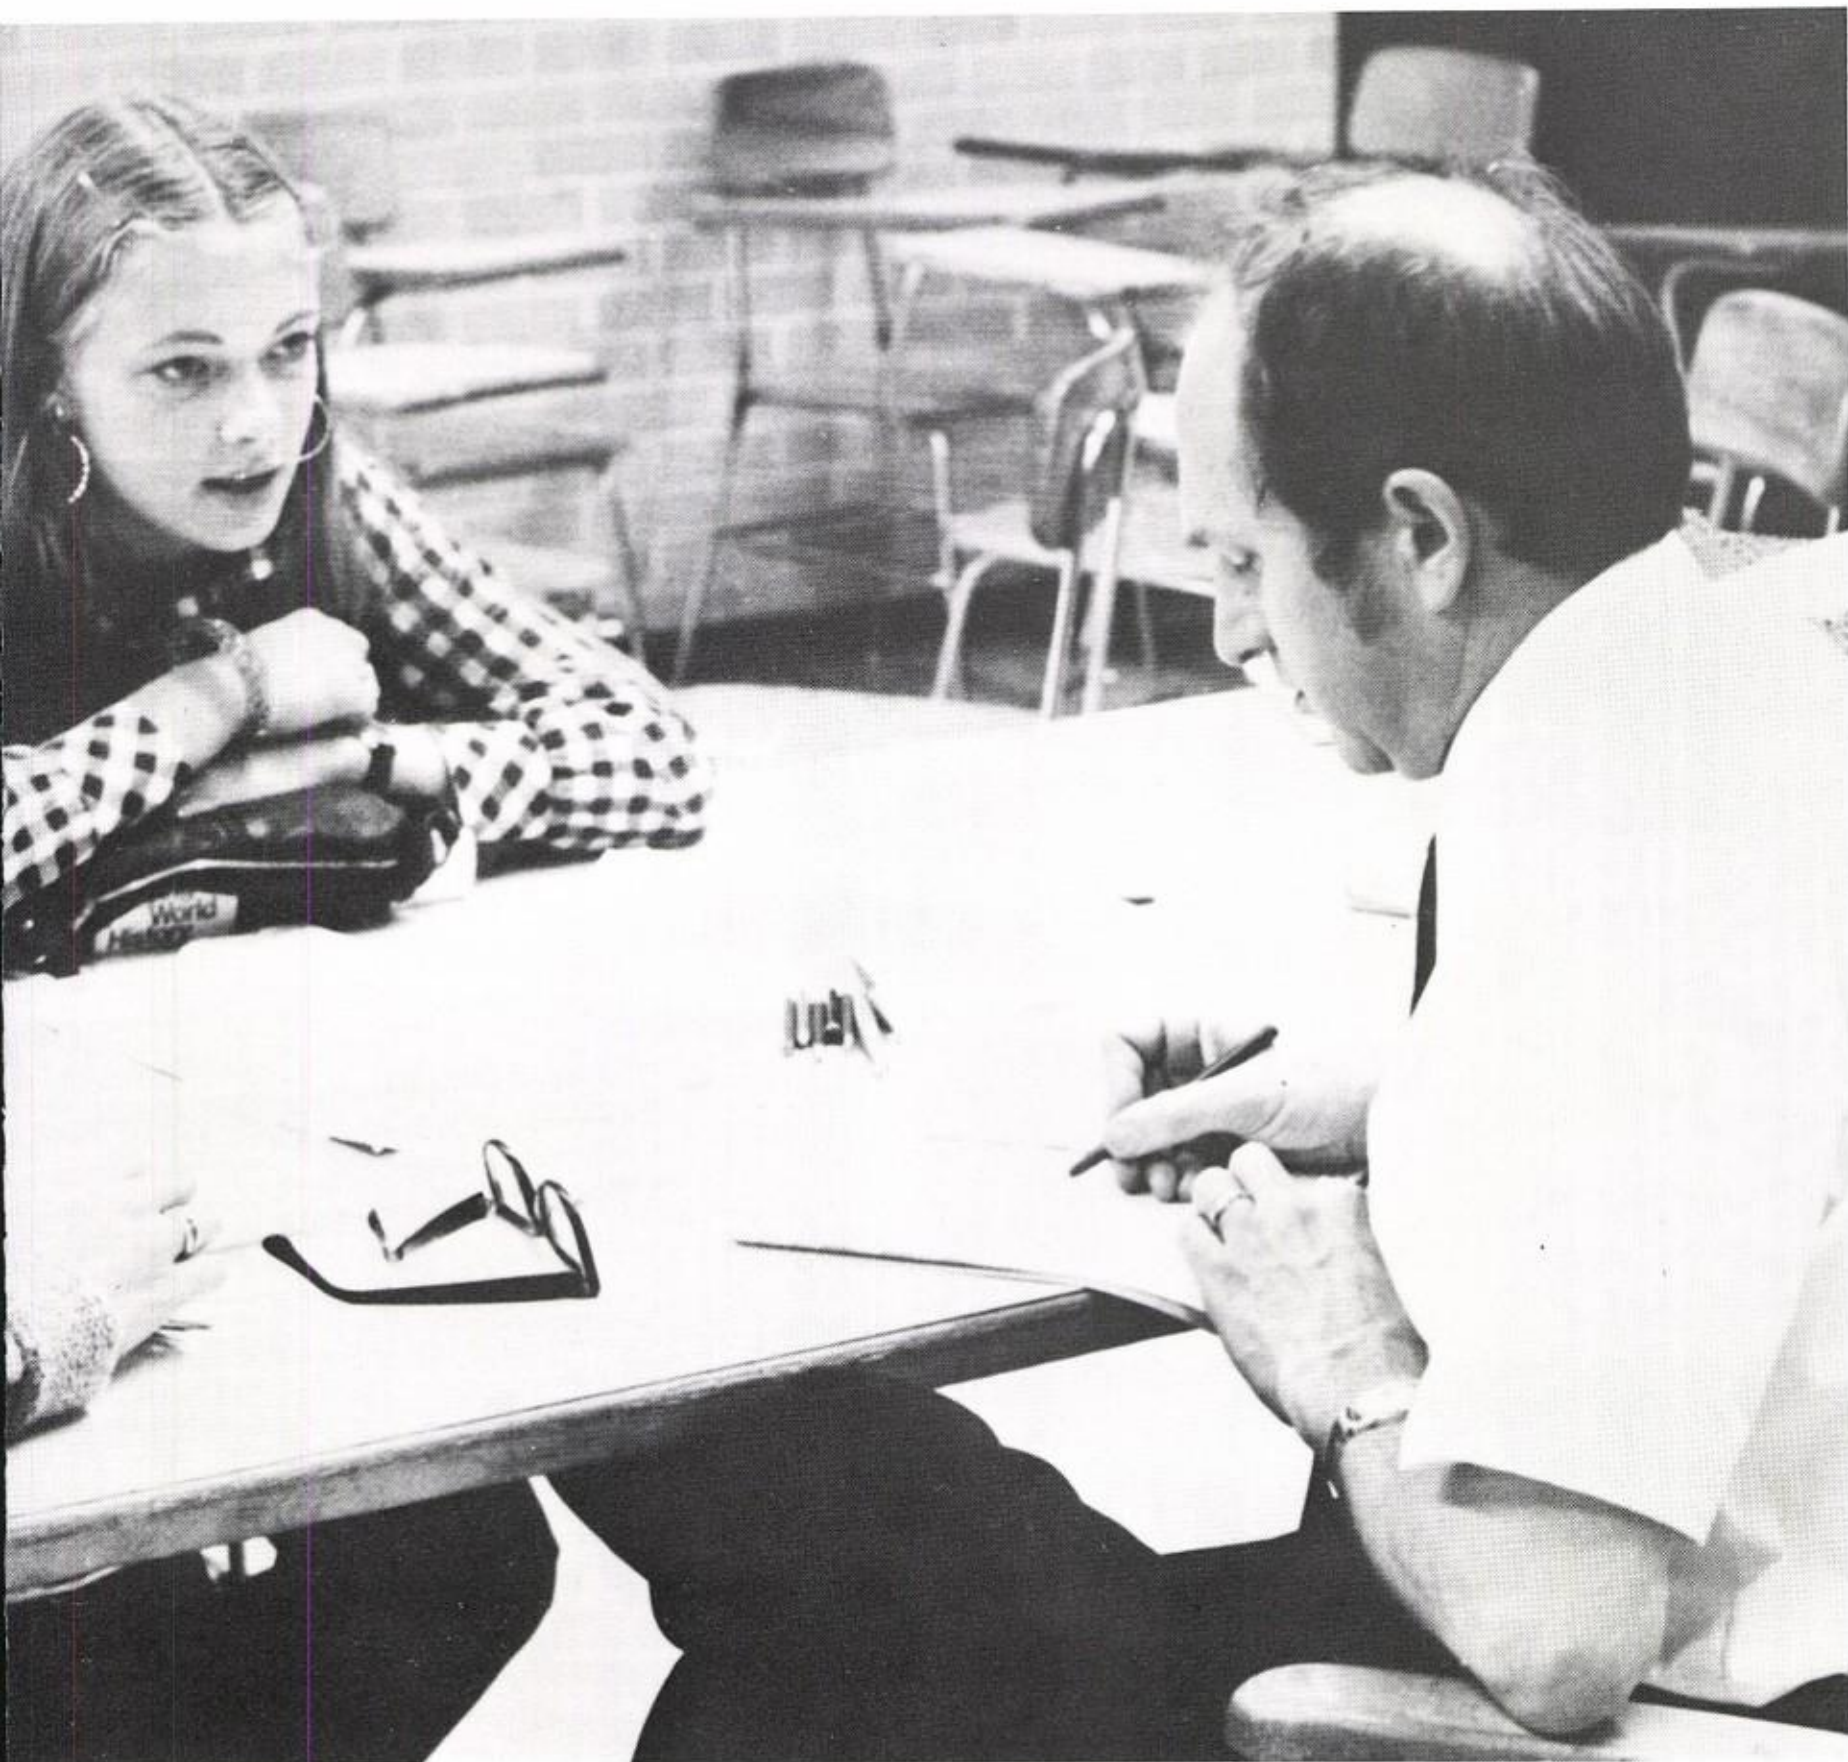

Drama students presented several fall productions, including The Lottery, Bald Soprano, and Sarah's Revenge. When not working on a production, they study the history of the theatre.

VCT Pupils Gain Work Experience

Vocational Cooperative Training consists of a combination of occupationally-related classroom instruction, on-the-job training, and work experience.

Students taking Vocational Cooperative Training may choose from among five courses. These include Agriculture Cooperative Training, Distributive Education Cooperative Training I and II, Health Occupations Cooperative Training, Industrial Cooperative Training I and II, and Office Education Cooperative Training.

Students enrolled in the VCT program are employed by businessmen for a minimum of 15 hours per school week at equitable wage rates. They usually attend regular classes for a half-day, with the remainder of the school day being devoted to part-time employment and on-the-job training.

Vocational School Fills Pupil Needs

One trend in modern education is increased emphasis on vocational courses to meet the demands of more and more students, whose interests and long-term goals lie in that direction.

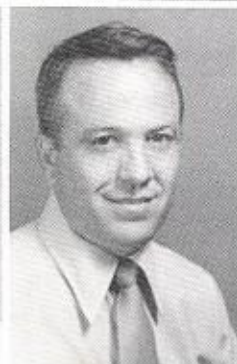

The Area Vocational School, housed in Fulton and Morse Halls on the Central campus, has something for every student who is vocationally-minded. Additional vocational courses are offered at Lake View.

Central students may choose from among Agriculture I, II, and III, Appliance Repair I and II, Automobile Mechanics I and II, Building Trades I and II, Computer Programming, Electrical Trades I and II, Homemaking I, II, and III, Home and Family Living, Metal Trades I and II, Pre-Health Training, Printing I and II, Radio and Television Repair and Service I and II, and Small Engine and Selected Automobile Repair I and II.

CLASSES

Varied Expressions Tell Story of Year

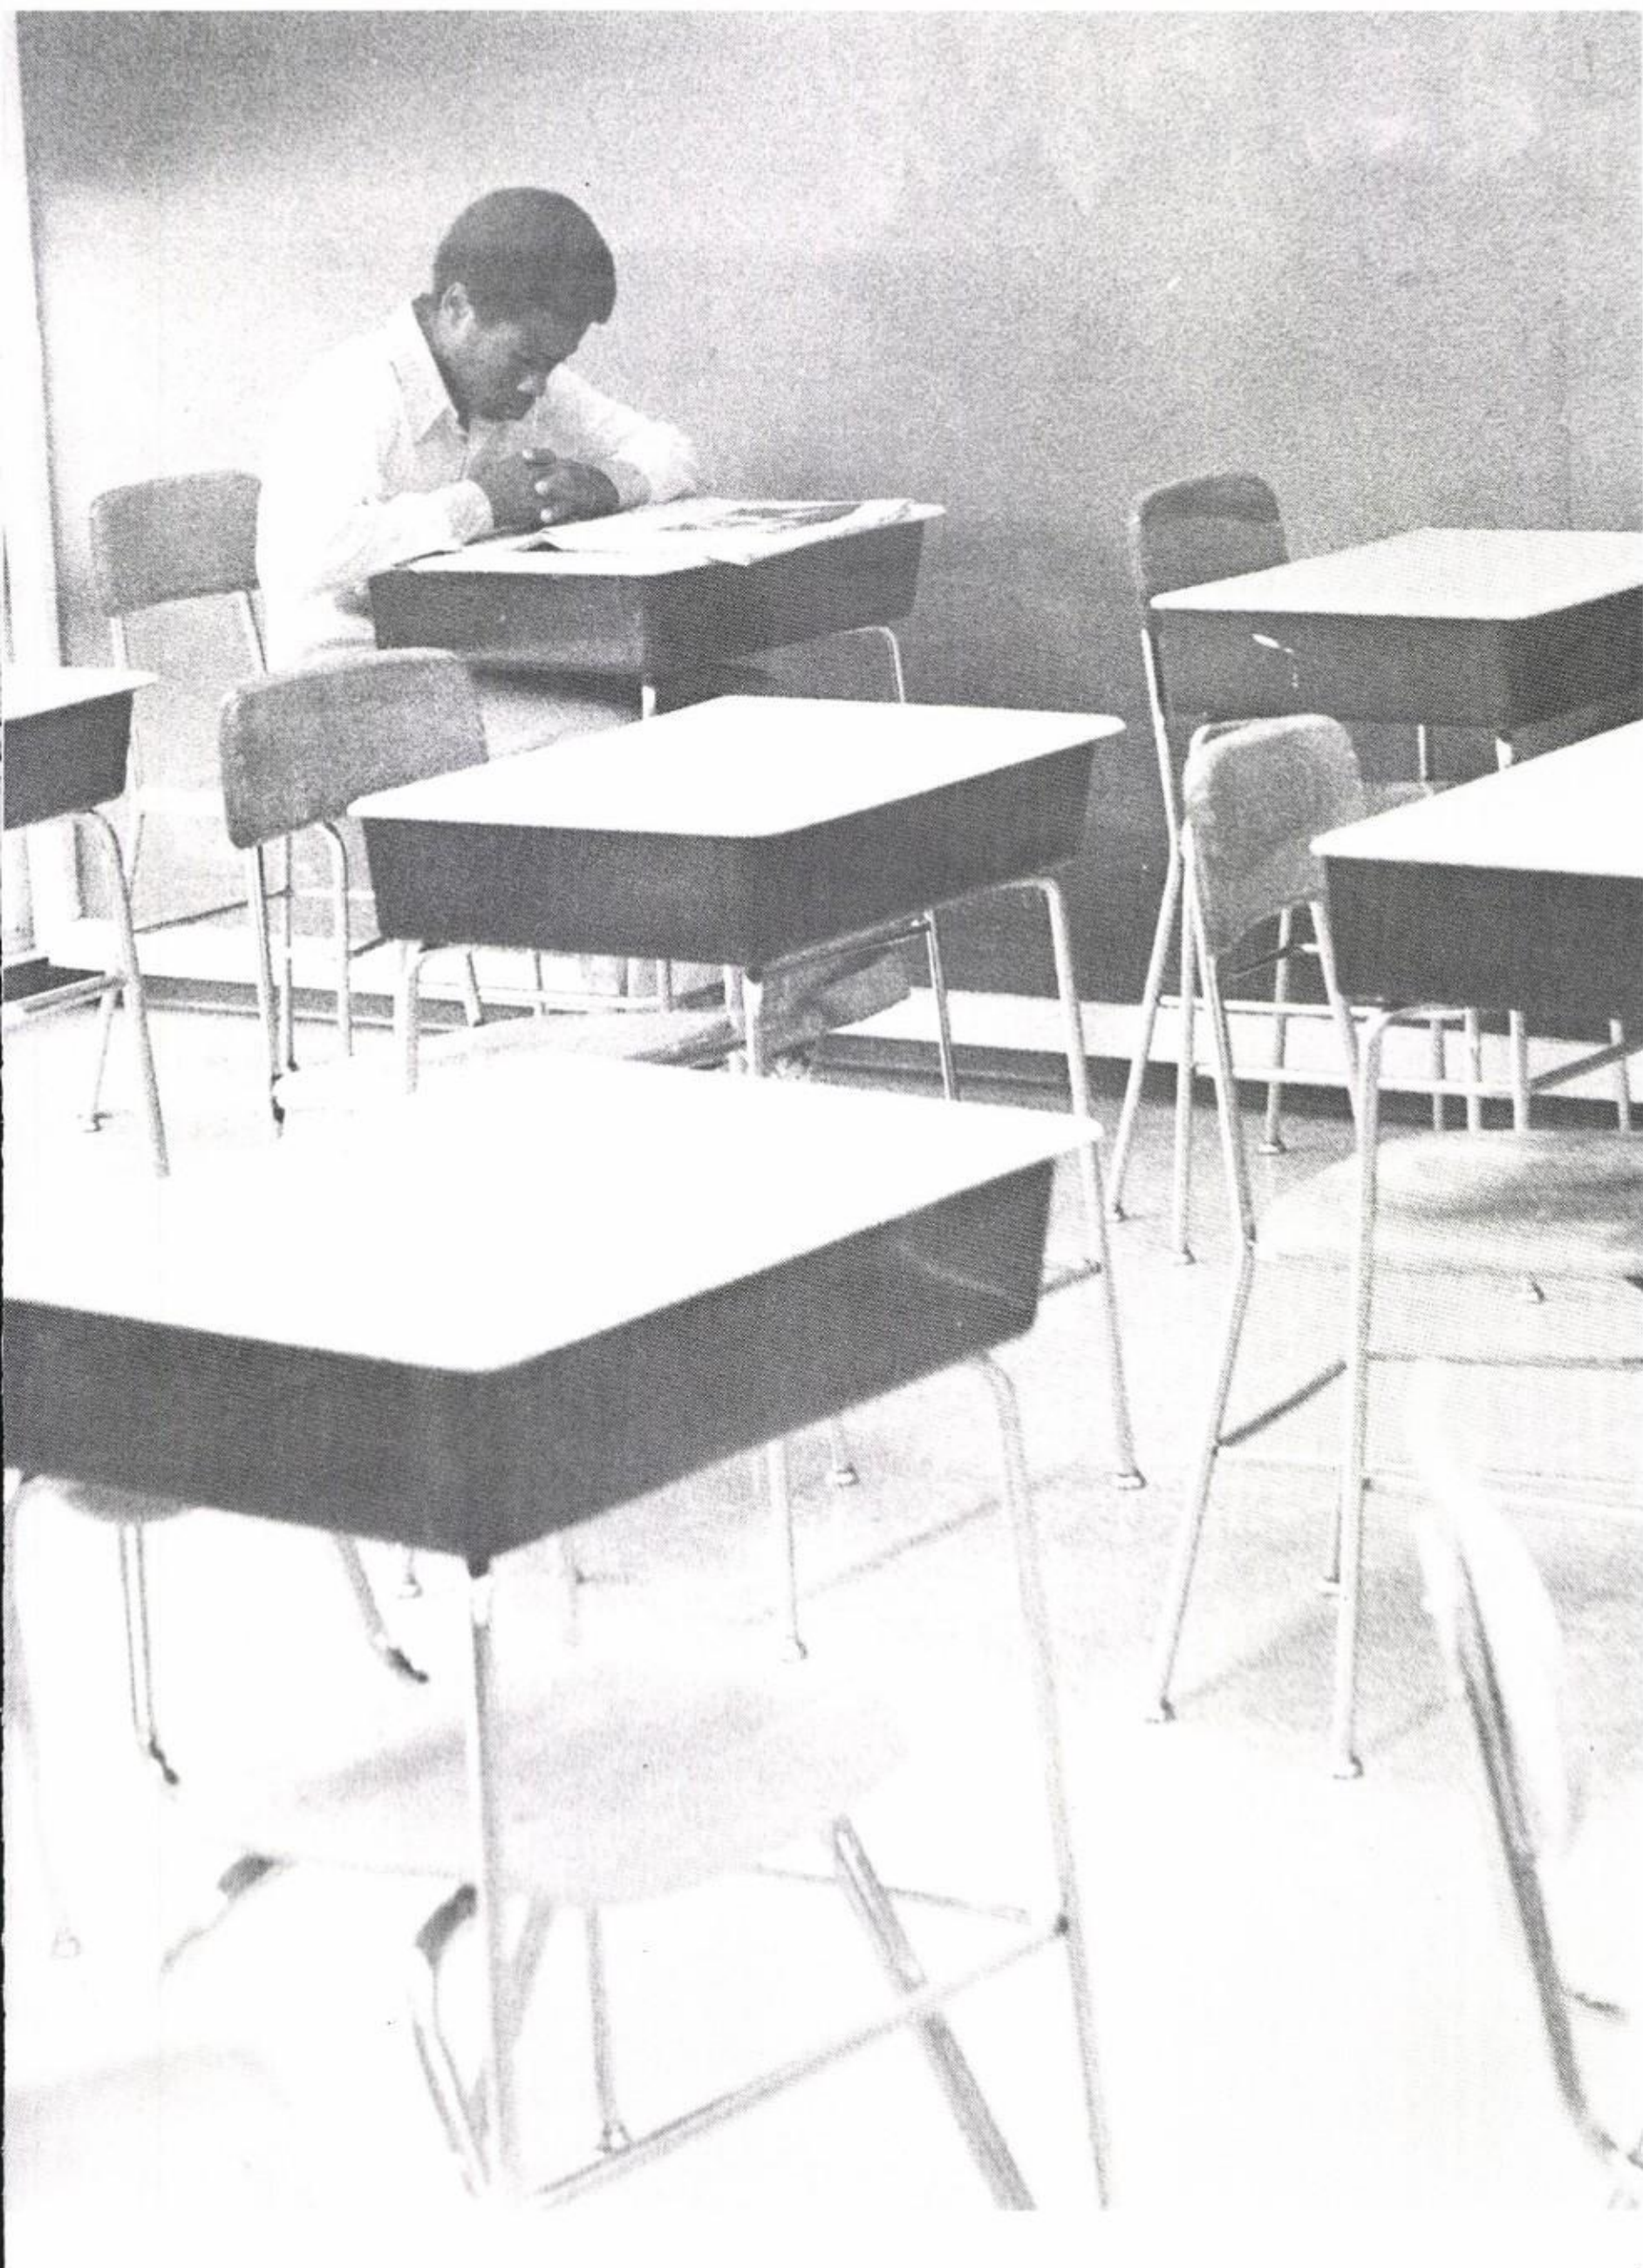

With 2,471 students swarming over Central's campus daily, there are at least 2,471 different expressions at any given point in time. These expressions are as much a part of Central as the faces that wear them.

There is the girl who smiles and says "Hello," yet you never learn her name . . . the boy with the grim look and bulging 'attache' case, oblivious to everybody and everything except his own thoughts . . . the couple who live in a world of their own during the six minutes between classes, emerging to the reality that besets us all only on the last echo of the tardy bell.

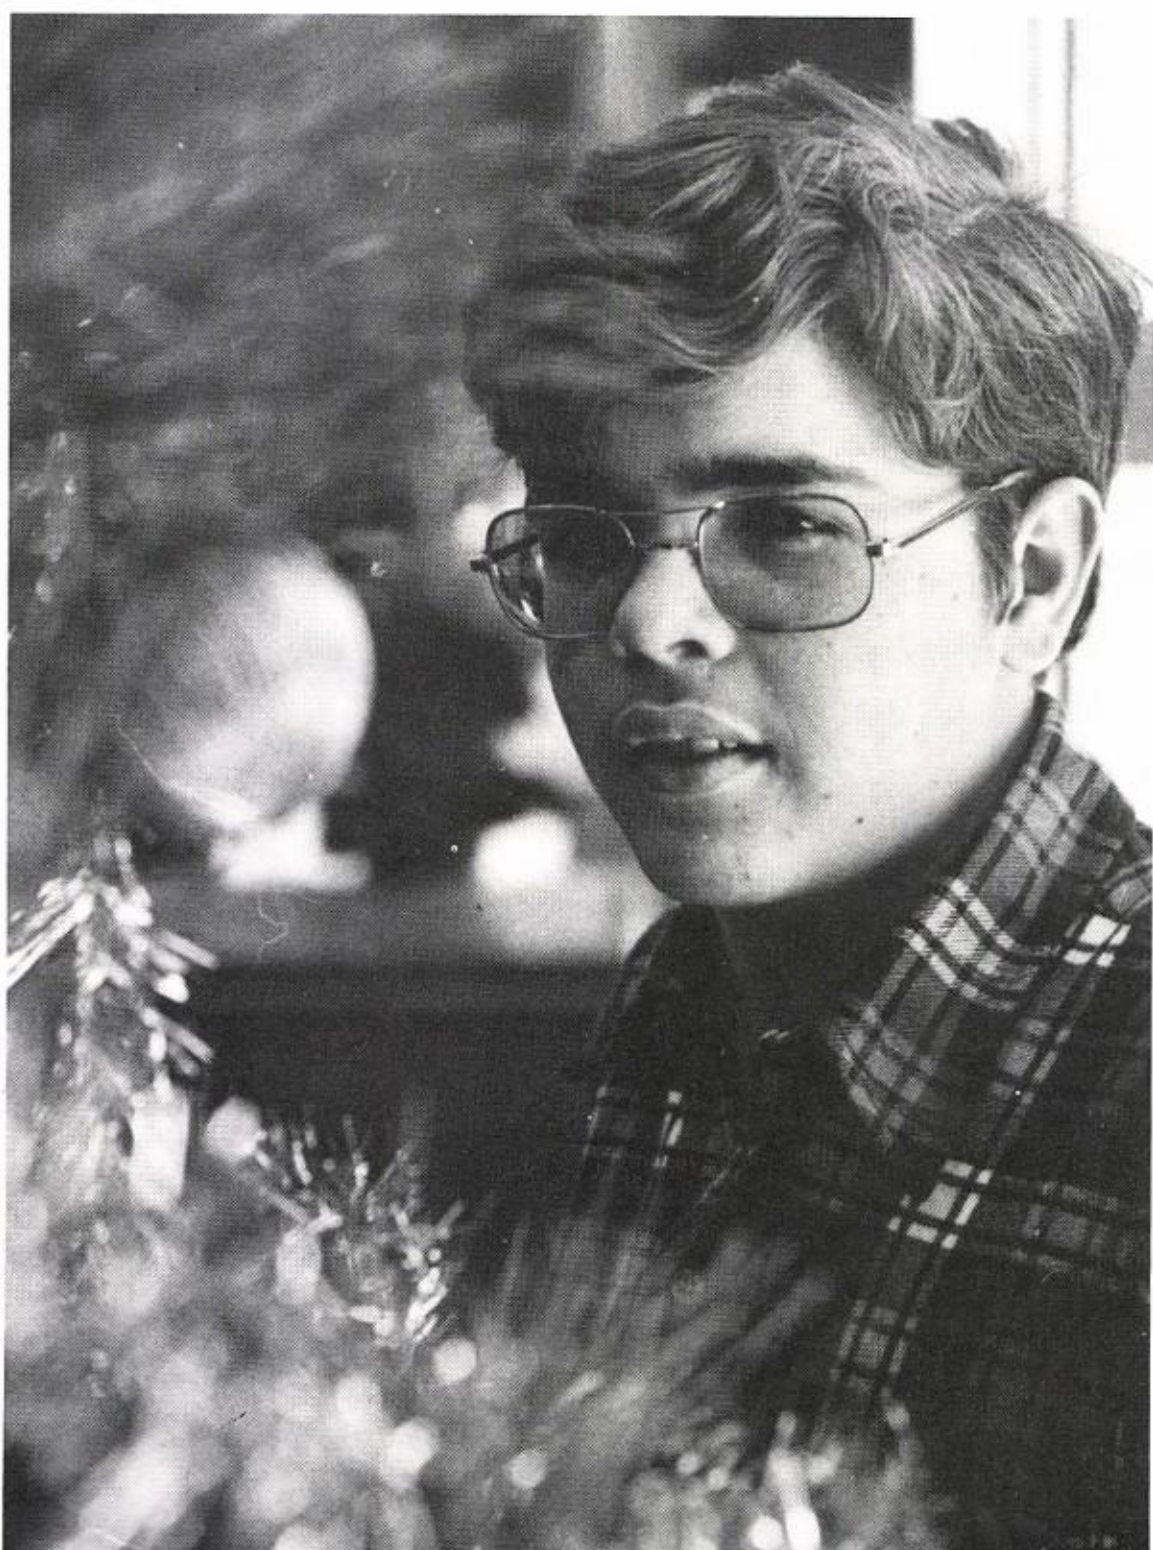

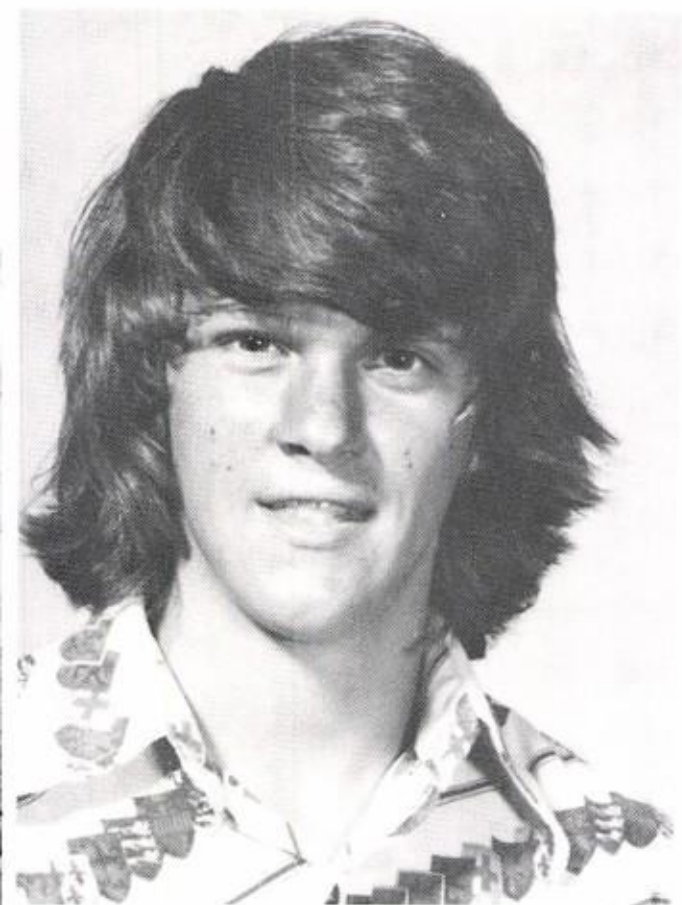

As the months and years go by, the faces change, but the expressions of joy, of love, sorrow, anger, frustration, and sheer boredom remain. They are a unique part of Central; indeed, they are Central.

These faces and expressions of members of the classes that attended Central during 1973-74 depict in their own way the story of the year.

Communication Brings Empathy, Understanding

The right to express ourselves is important; indeed, it is almost an obligation. One must speak his feelings, take a stand. But there are as many ways of taking this stand as there are people.

Each person remains an individual, and he expresses himself in his own way. A smile, or characteristic gesture often say more than words. To this person, laughter is rare and special; to that, it is a sign of uncertainty. To another, perhaps, it is a cover for anger or disappointment. By association and observation, we learn to interpret the expressions of those around us. We learn to communicate.

And through communication, we learn to understand; we find rapport occasionally where we least expected to find it. We even discover the empathy that comes momentarily through sharing the innermost feelings of another. We become one with him.

Communication involves much more than words. An expression, a gesture, a tilt of the head have their own special meanings with special people. They even help to tell the story of the 1973-74 school year as it was at Central.

In Memoriam

'When you part from your friend, you grieve not;
'For that which you love most in him may be clearer in his absence, as the mountain to the climber from the plain.'

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

It is impossible to list here all the people to whom the Westerner staff is indebted for a helping hand. A yearbook of the scope of the Westerner would be an unrealized dream without this help.

But some whose special efforts and interest have left a lasting impression on the book must be singled for acknowledgment. A big "Thanks," then, to:

Newsfoto Yearbooks, our publisher.

David McGinnis, Newsfoto art director, whose interest went far beyond that of the usual publishing company representative.

Terry Petrick and Bill Folger of the Wallace Studio.

Kathy Phillips, our own staffer, who designed the cover.

Bob Milburn, executive sports editor of the Standard-Times.

Mike Williams and Louis Griffin, for lending an assist with photography.

Those understanding Central teachers, whose help and encouragement even went so far as to release us occasionally from other duties when deadlines loomed.

And finally, our advertisers, whose generous financial support made this book possible.
